Board Of Education Adopts New Policy

Perquimans County Board of Education today announced a free and reduced price meal policy for Perquimans County school children unable to pay the full price.

Local school officials have adapted family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free or reduced price meals for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school meals. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy the School Principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

Mrs. Janice P. Winslow, whose address is Hertford, N.C. has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a meal.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Perquimans County Board of Education where it may be reviewed by any interested patron.

Scale is shown on page 6.

"I'm here today because I want the people in every county in North Carolina to know that I care about you — that I care enough to come into your county and visit with you face to face. I'm here so that you'll know that I understand your problems and that I'm bound and determined to do something about them.

"Just as an example, don't you think it's time we had a road policy that's fair to everybody in the state? It's high time we had a Governor who's interested in building roads on

In 1935 Chowan became coeducational and in 1937 a two-year college.

Chowan was forced to close during World War II but reopened in October, 1949. During the past 15 years, under the leadership of President Bruce E. Whitaker, Chowan's faculty has increased from 20 to 72 and its student body from under 300 to over 1500 in the fall of 1971. The American Legion Post 126 will meet Thursday, September 7 at 8 p.m. at the Legion Home.

Commerce Leases Land For Picnic Area

The Perquimans County Chamber of Commerce is leasing about seven acres of land here from the state at a dollar a year, which will make into a picnic-playground area.

It is located at the intersection of U.S. 17 and N.C. 37. The agreement between North Carolina and the Chamber is the culmination of about a decade of work by the latter to establish a large, comfortable and well-equipped rest area for visitors.

A meeting was recently held by the Chamber, county and municipal officials and representatives of civic organizations to make plans for clearing the land and establishing the picnic site.

A sketch of what the proposed picnic area will look like was shown by Mrs. Ann Young, chairman of the Chamber's Travel and Recreation Committee.

There will be two parking areas, each offering access to the two highways, a rest area and picnic tables.

"At a later date playground equipment will probably be added," said Chamber President R.L. Stevenson.

No estimate was available as to the cost of the project.

"Our main concern now," Mrs. Young said, "is to get the picnic area cleared, driveways fixed and tables set up."

Later plans call for water and lights to be added.

The site was turned over to the Chamber because, "the state doesn't need it," said District Highway Commissioner Joe Nowell who added, "this could help the community of Winfall."

"It could eventually open the doors to some business establishing itself near the site," he said.

State law prohibits a non-profit organization from maintaining such a leased area for more than three years.

"After that," Stevenson said, "the property will probably be turned over either to the county or the town of Winfall."
