Educational Benefits For Veterans

The Veterans Administration today reminded college bound veterans that they should file an application with VA as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delay in their monthly education allowance checks.

H.W. Johnson, Director of the Winston-Salem VA Regional Office, offered these additional tips for veterans looking forward to getting started in college:

"The first thing a veteran should do," Johnson explained, "is to decide on an educational objective. He should then choose a school and apply for admission as soon as possible."

"The veteran then should apply for educational assistance from the nearest VA office. VA will send two copies of the certificate of eligibility, which must be submitted to the school. The school will endorse one copy and forward it to the VA Regional Office," he said. Johnson strongly suggested that the veteran check back with the school to make certain the certificate has been forwarded. This is to help insure that the veteran starts receiving monthly education allowance checks promptly.

Veterans returning to the same school need not get another certificate. Those who plan to change schools or educational objectives within the same schools, however, must get VA approval.

To be eligible for educational benefits, a veteran or serviceman must have served at least 181 days of continuous active duty, any part of it after January 31, 1955. Or, he must have been separated from service because of a service connected disability without regard to length of service.

Veterans were urged to contact their nearest VA office or their local veterans service organization representatives if further information on educational benefits is desired.

ARRANGE TREES

In planting trees around the house, arrange them informally where they will cast shade where it is needed. To shade the roof, place medium to large trees within 15 to 20 feet of the house. Twenty to 30 feet might be better if shade on the roof isn't needed.
