Work Incentive Offered To Welfare Recipients

Perquimans employers may now claim a special Federal tax credit for hiring welfare recipients under the Work Incentive (WIN) Program Alice W. Bond, manager of the Employment Security Commission office, Edenton reports.

The Internal Revneue Service will allow a 20 per cent tax credit on wages paid these workers during their first year of

To receive this credit, the employer must hire a participant from the WIN Program and get certification from the local Employment Security Commission office that he employed the worker through the WIN Program.

"We can now issue these certifications," reports Mrs. Bond.

Called the "job development" tax credit, the new regulations are related to the Talmadge Admendments of the Social Security Act which requires all adults for jobs at State Employment offices in order to continue to receive welfare benefits.

In North Carolina, the Department of Social Services determines which AFDC recipients are exempt from the program, then registers all non-exempt individuals and volunteers with local ESC offices.

Mrs. Bond said that at the end of March there were over 4,800 mandatory enrollments in the Work Incentive Program (WIN) and about 2,800 volunteer enrollments. We try to find jobs for them or on-the-job training opportunities," she said.

The tax credit, which can be claimed by employers hiring WIN enrollees, encourages to provide jobs and job training. They can claim tax credits on wages earned by WIN hires for tax years beginning after December 31, 1971. Employers get credit for 12 months' employment, which need not be con-secutive but must be within two years after a worker is hired. Perquimans Personality

Mrs. Dora T. Riddick

By FRANCINE SAW SAWYER

Mrs. Dora T. Riddick, a gay blade at 85-years-old is one of Perquimans County's still swinging senior citizen.

Mrs. Riddick, born on election day in 1888, the baby daughter of a Methodist minister, has lived in Hertford for more than 50 years. She is a retired music teacher and a published poet. Hei .. hymns have been published repeatedly in a Raleigh newspaper. "I write poetry to make people grin," she says. "I in using believe capitalization, periods and commas," she said. "I don't think that stuff without it is real poetry.'

she added. The mother of four children, two boys now living, Mrs. Riddick is the widow of former Hertford banker, R.M. Riddick of the old Hertford Banking

Co. She has been a widow for three years.

Her house is full of old things. Mrs. Riddick said, "a number of my things are antiques like me."

She has pictures of her and her husbands family going back generations. Other heirlooms don her

"I'd be dead along time ago if I'd taken the advice others have given me since my husband died. Everyone has so much advice for a widow," she said.

She does her own thing. When not pening her delightful poetry, Mrs. Riddick works in her flower garden. She supplies fresh flowers for her United Methodist Church. Sometimes Mrs. Riddick travels to Elizabeth City to the Music Club. There are only two members from Perquimans County.

Looking back over the years, Mrs. Riddick finds them fulfilling. "I was a busy person, I had three children in college at one time," she said. About teaching she said, "I never frowned when teaching my students to play piano. If I had to frown I wouldn't teach," she said.

She loves her music. "Music is a chance of enjoyment," she said.

"I love teaching. I had 75 students at one time," she said.

"Some of the students are grandparents now," she said.

Mrs. Riddick is also a member of the Hertford BPW Club.

She said is one stays busy, one overcome anything. The only thing Mrs.

Riddick never got into was driving an auto. 'That (never learning to drive) owes the fact to my good condition," she
