Farm Festival Plans Under Way

Final plans were made Monday night for the Young Farmers and Ranchers sponsored Harvest Day to be held Aug. 10 and 11. The two-day affair will include a host of events and activities. There will be something for everyone to become involved in. Various booths will be set up in the P.C.H.S. gymnasium for farm related industries to exhibit their goods as well as demonstrations by other non - profitable organizations. A booth will cost ten dollars except to those non - profit groups which will have free booths. Some of the booths will include representatives from the soybean and peanut association as well as chemical industries. Other clubs that will be represented will be the 4-H club, Lion's Club, Home Extension Office, and the American Legion. Anyone wishing to set up a booth should see Paul Smith or

Other than the booths, there will be various categories for Perquimans County residents to enter their preserves and - or handicrafts in, which will be judged by people out of the county. Ribbons will be presented to the winners in the different categories.

Carl Sawyer.

There will be outside attractions also. Billy Winslow, Ray Winslow, and Johnny Corprew will be in charge of this. These attractions will include such things as farm equipment and campers and they will be on display in the high school ballpark.

During the celebration, there will be special attractions for the kiddies as well as a concession stand set up by the 4-H Club.

One of the highlights will be a ballgame of the old Albemarle League. This is a semi professional team that once played in this area. Several of the team members are returning to the county to participate in this. This will be sponsored by the Lion's Club.

Tickets will be sold to a "Harvest Day" supper that is being sponsored by the American Legion

Another interesting event will be the farm tours. These will be conducted by bus throughout the county, and will include animal tours. Airman Graduates field crop tours, and vegetable crop tours.

Speakers for the event will be Mr. B.C. Mangum, President of the N.C. Farm Bureau, along with Mr. James Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture

Washington Report

BY CONGRESSMAN WALTER B. JONES

The impoundment of funds which have been previously approved by the Congress for specific purposes, has been a controversial question for many so with the present years, and especially Administration. There are valid arguements as to whether under the Constitution the President has the right to disregard the will of Congress or not. So, in an effort to reasert its power, the House passed by a vote of 254 to 164, a bill limiting the President's power to refuse to spend appropriated funds.

The anti-impoundment bill provides that when the President decides not to spend certain funds, he must notify Congress. If either House disapproves his action within 60 days, the funds must be released for item on exhibit to be judged The bill woul be in effect only until next June 30 and would set a spending ceiling for this fiscal year of P.C.H.S. gym between 12 noon and 7 p.m. on $267.1 billion.

> Of course, it is expected that the President will veto this bill, then it remains a question of whether the Congress can muster the necessary two-thirds votes to override the veto. In the event the bill should become law, it will indeed be an historic action, for it will once and for all, settle the question of the President's right to impound approrpriated funds.

In other House action by a narrow margin of only five votes, approval was given to a $2.8 billion foreign aid bill. I was a bitterly contested debate as many of us are convinced that the vast expenditures for foreign aid have meant little or nothing to this nation.

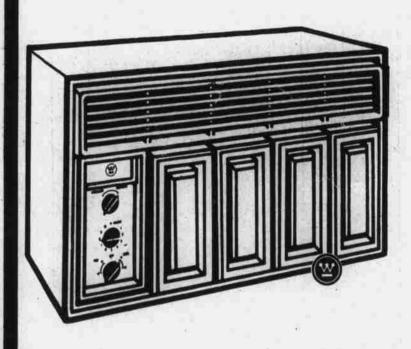

Among amendments to the bill approved by the House was one which passed by a voter of 272 to 102 to bar aid to countries which expropriate American property and refuse to make just compensation. Aso, the House removed a five-year export credit fund which would have cost $1 billion per year. At a time when food prices are high and the dollar is being devalued abroad, and we are having economic trouble at home, it hardly seems a time to be giving money away overseas. This is especially true when there exists $26.8 billion of previously appropriated and authorized funds which have not been expanded. In other words, I can think of no better way to attempt to balance the budget than to eliminate the foreign aid

On final passage, Congressmen Andrews, Broyhill, Fountain, Henderson, Jones, Martin, Mizell, Rose, Ruth and Taylor voted no, with only Congressman Richardson Preyer voting yes out of the entire North Carolina delegation.
