New York City Police Praise Julian Broughton

Thomas J. Cavanagh, Jr., Lieutenant, 13th Homicide Squad in New York City has written Mayor Bill Cox commending Sheriff Julian Broughton for his assistance in a New York homicide and kidnapping investigation resulting in seven arrests. The outline of the activities as cited in the letter to Cox are as follows:

"On May 23rd, 1973 at 0010 hours one, Philip Williams was shot in the hallway of his apartment and another male, was forced into a car at gun point and driven from Williams' Brooklyn address into Nassau County, Long Island, New York where he was shot in the head and left for dead.
"On June 26, 1973, detective Gerald Hunt and detective Raymond Ott, assigned to the 13th Homicide Squad, New York City Police Department arrived in your town and met with Sheriff Broughton. Having traced a key witness from Baltimore, Md., to Perquimans County, their investigation appeared to come to an end. Sheriff Broughton joined our detective and conducted his own investigation in an effort to locate this missing witness who was in hiding in fear of his own life.

"On June 27, 1973 through Sheriff Broughton's professionalism, his complete knowledge of his county and its people and his intelligent approach to our problem, led to the location of this witness and a successful conclusion of our investigation. This witness was returned to New York and testified before the Kings County Grand Jury. This resulted in seven arrests and an alarm transmitted for one more identified perpetrator, not yet apprehended. All eight have been indicted by the Grand Jury for Murder, Kidnapping, Robbery, Burglary and Possession of Weapons.

"It is our desire to call attention to the actions of your Sheriff in this investigation and to extend to you and the people of your county who elected him our thanks, that you had elected a man of his obvious qualifications.

"Looking forward to our continued good relations on any Police matters in the future."

The letter was signed by Cavanagh.

Hunter's Not Scared; He's A County Boy

EDITORS NOTE: The United Press International had a color feature on Jimmy "Catfish" Hunter in Sunday's News & Observer. We would like to share it with readers in Perquimans County who are very proud of Hunter.
At press time the results of the World Series were still unknown. We promise full information in next weeks edition of The Perquimans Weekly.

OAKLAND (UPI)—If Jim Hunter was nervous, he didn't show it.
After beating the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, Thursday on a five-hitter to send the Oakland A's in to the World Series, the 27-year-old righthander said he was "too nervous to sleep" the night before.

"I stayed up until two in the morning," he said between gulps from a champagne bottle. "I only slept six hours."
But whether Hunter was nervous or not, he turned out to be Mr. reliable for the A's return ticket to the World Series against the New York Mets.
"Nothing bothers that man," manager Dick Williams said of Hunter's performance—one in which he did not permit an Oriole runner beyond second base. "I mean nothing."

Ray Fosse, who caught the series clincher, climbed on the Hunter bandwagon. "In a pressure game, we gave the ball to the right man. He's a money pitcher. He kept everything down around the knees. There was no way they (the Orioles) were going to beat us."

SEEKING SEAT—Rev. John H. London, Jr., 35, of 211 Hyde Park has filed for a town council seat. Rev. London is married to the former Jacqueline Baldwin of Norfolk. He is on the Hertford Boy Scout by appointment and employed by the Albemarle Human Resource system as a family planning counselor for Hertford. He attended Florida Memorial College and has a BD in divinity.

A LOVE BUG?—For a moment, news photographer Francine Sawyer thought Walt Disney Productions were making a sequence to "The Love Bug," a movie about a small foreign car such as this, which could fly in the air and had a mind of its own. But such was not the case. This was just a junked car at Ike's Automotive Repair near Woodville. It made a different sort of photograph.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE—The Perquimans County Chamber of Commerce began its membership drive Monday night at its board meeting. Leading the drive is Wayne Winslow, seated. Looking on are chamber president, Marion Swindell, and chamber secretary Jean Harrison. Monday night the chamber had received $950 in pledges. The cards are due back Nov. 1. (Francine Sawyer Photo)

Something Extra For The Weekly

In The Perquimans Weekly edition today, readers will find an added feature.
Over 30 firms in Pasquotank County are written about, each giving a description of the firm in the form of a news digest.

However, these are all ads and are paid for.

The regular advertisers in The Perquimans Weekly were not contacted, because the management at this newspaper felt, the regular patronage of Perquimans County and area advertisers, is helpful and appreciated. Therefore, to call upon the regular advertisers, it was felt, would be putting an added burden on them.

Personnel Change At Weight Station

There has been a change of personnel at the Weight Station on U.S. 17 in Perquimans County.

W.L. Simmerson who has been supervisor at the weight station has asked and received a transfer to Statesville, N.C. where he will be a vehicle inspector.

Persons Abusing Notary

"I am today revoking the commission of the fourth Notary Public in North Carolina in the current month," said Thad Eure, secretary of state.
"These commissions were revoked under authority granted me in Chapter 103 of the General Statutes. Any commission so issued by the Secretary of State, or his predecessor, shall be revocable by him, when he shall be satisfied that the interest of the public will be served by the revocation of said commission."
Two commissions were revoked because a Parent's Consent to Marriage was notarized which someone other than a parent signed. Possibly this one thing is the major complaint I have received regarding misconduct of notaries. It is certainly the most tragic in its consequences in those involved.

Sgt. J.H. Webb, is now acting lieutenant until Nov. 1. W.F. Pugh who was previously an inspection officer is now sgt. at the weight station.
All changes are effective Nov. 1.
Simmerson has been with the weight station since it opened in the 1960s.
According to Roy McCampbell deputy director of the license and theft division of the North Carolina Motor Vehicles Department, the changes are not political.

Double Feature

The second film is "One A.M." and stars Charlie Chan.

Test To Be Given

The Perquimans County High School will administer the National Educational Development Tests, a testing program that helps professional educators, parents and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students.
According to James S. Midgett, director of guidance at the high school, the test will be given Oct. 25.
He also said the NEDT program is being used because it will give the school the type of information it needs to help the students make realistic decisions. "The NEDT will help us to help the student plan wisely for his future education and for his future career."
"The program will reveal how well the students can apply the skills they have acquired since entering school. It will help us recognize the strengths in each student's educational development and, at the same time, will pinpoint weaknesses.

Telegram Goes To 'Catfish'

The Perquimans County Chamber of Commerce and the town of Hertford, forwarded telegrams to Jim 'Catfish' Hunter congratulating him on his success, and letting him know that the prayers and thoughts of the area are behind him.
"The billboards (advertising Hertford as the home of Jim Hunter) take on a new meaning and will become even more meaningful by the end of the week," was part of the text of the Chamber's telegram.
The area's favorite son grabbed headlines away from the politicians and was the recipient of praise heaped on him by his teammates, manager and team owner, other players, baseball writers, and the millions of fans.
