

Spring Festival To Attract Many Participants

On Saturday, April 19, The Albemarle Academy is sponsoring a Spring Festival.

There will be a barbeque dinner from 4-7 p.m., an auction of all types of items, including antiques, a bake sale, field day competition, a lawn mower tractor pull, a science fair display and a country store.

The Spring Festival will also feature an Arts & Craft Exhibit and Sale, with works of major local and Albemarle area artists.

Prizes will be awarded from the drawing of admission tickets, which will include a television set, bicycles, clock radio and many other prizes to be drawn every hour during the day.

Entertainment will be furnished throughout the day by the Academy Chorus and talent groups, the Kindred Trio, Roanoke Bible College Girls Ensemble, Tar Heel Squares and the Berea Baptist Church Quartet.

There will be a fashion show and a preview of the Magic Forest by the students of the Albemarle Academy.

The Springs Arts Festival, Kinston's largest creative event held annually, will be a joint effort of the Kinston Arts Council, THE KINSTON DAILY FREE PRESS with the Lenoir County Agriculture Extension Service, The Recreation Department and the Lenoir Historical Society. These sponsoring agencies are channeling their efforts into the large Festival to be held at Vernon Park Mall and Fairfield Recreation Center on April 18 and 19.

Professional and amateur artists throughout the state are being encouraged to submit works in various media including oil, acrylics, watercolors, pastels and photography. Over $1000 will be awarded the winners. In addition to the regular prizes there will be several "Purchase" and "Best in Show" awards.

Entries will be received at the registration desk in the Mall from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and from 7 until 9 p.m. on April 17 ONLY. There will be a $4.00 entry fee from each artist and no one may enter more than five works.

The judges will be Dr. Francis Speight of Greenville, Mrs. Effie Raye Bateman of Belhaven, Bob Mitchell of Raleigh and Mrs. Jerry Freeman of Kinston. The show opens at 3 p.m. on April 18.

Fairfield Recreation Center will be the site of the exhibits and demonstrations of crafts from noon until 6 p.m. on April 19. As in the past there will be special rooms set aside to display heirloom, traditional and contemporary crafts. Anyone wishing to display an item may bring the article between 9 and 11 a.m. on the 19 to Fairfield Center. The show opens at noon.

Musical entertainment will be featured at the Mall beginning at 7 p.m. on April 18 and continuing at intervals until the Festival closes on April 19. There will be an assortment of talent ranging from selections by Stan Bumgarner to music by the Community Chorus and the Community Band. The Cloggers and T e Sometimes Grass will be additional folk attraction. The co-chairmen of the fine arts division of the Festival to be held at the

Slide Show

A slide show on the Coastal Area Management Act is now available within the coastal area from the Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

The slide show is a summary of the Coastal Area Management Act of 1974. It was produced by Stuart George of the Public Affairs Division of Natural and Economic Resources, and is narrated by Richard Ellis of the Department of Cultural Resources.

It is available to interested citizens by contacting John Hooton at 762-3394 in Wilmington; Tom Richter at 946-6481 in Washington, N.C. and Howard Capps at 338-3991 in Elizabeth City.

An additional copy is available from John Buck at the Division of Continuing Education at East Carolina University (758-6138).

Additional information has also been prepared for the Coastal Area Management Program. Interested groups may request a speaker from the Coastal Resources Commission's Speaker's Bureau by calling Ms. Betsy Warren collect at 829-2293.

Printed materials available from the Coastal Resources Commission at P.O. Box 650, Morehead City, 28557, include a general outline brochure on the Coastal Act; a Coastline card giving the Commission's hotline number (829-2293), a special collect number that operates during business hours to answer questions and receive suggestions on coastal area management; a 13"x20" poster giving the hotline number and information; copies of the Commission's newsletter, "The Coastline," and the handbook on public participation.

Working in conjunction with the Coastal Resources Commission, the North Carolina State University Extension Service has also prepared a slide show on land use planning related to the Coastal Area Management Act and a packet of written materials. These are available from county extension chairmen.
