Given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Parrotte: William Penn, The Spirit of Seventy-six, and Cardigan: A Life of Lord Cardigan of Balacava.

An additional 141 titles were given by the Parents' Association of the Academy (A.A.E.A.).

Headmaster Don Parrotte stated the appreciation of the Academy, the Board of Directors, and the faculty for the valuable contributions made to the Library's continued growth and improvement. Further he offered special thanks to the A.A.E.A. whose contributions and thoughtfulness made it possible to add some $5000 worth of tapes, films and audio-visual equipment to the resources of both the classroom and library facilities. Parrotte stated, "The need for an effective, comprehensive library where problems may be researched is one of the foremost needs of any educational institution. These acquisitions certainly assist that need, and we, at the Academy, are thankful for each and every contribution."

Listen with More Than Ears for Real Meaning

RALEIGH—It's natural to want to communicate with others; but barriers may prevent effective communication.

"We want to share our ideas, our feelings, our fears," says Leo Hawkins, extension human development specialist, North Carolina State University. "This may come from a desire to increase our understanding of others, to test our thoughts or to help reduce tension."

"If effective communication takes place, conflicts can be resolved and problems solved," Dr. Hawkins agrees. "But we must watch for the barriers that can break down communication."

One barrier is listening only with our ears. We hear the words but fail to pay attention to how they are said. For example, what emotion is back of your manager's "I don't care"—unhappiness, boredom, fear, lack of confidence or hurt feelings?

Another barrier is failure to listen to the speaker's intent.

We hear what we want to hear; we may hear only the part with which we agree.

A closed mind is a third barrier. "I don't care what facts you quote, my mind is made up." You may as well save your breath because the person with a closed mind hears only what he wants to hear.

Barrier number four is self-centeredness. Some people are so concerned with "I" that they have no interest in another person's ideas or problems.

Number five — snap judgments. We may be immediately "turned off" by the way a person looks, the way he speaks, the color of his skin, or where he comes from. The person is put into a pre-conceived category and we never hear what he says.

Failure to listen is possibly the greatest barrier of all. Listening takes effort and concentration. We may not listen fully and be misled by words we do not understand.

ATTENDS SEMINAR — Mrs. Vazelle Jessup, (pictured in the center above) supervisor of the Cosmetology Department at College of The Albemarle, and a Hertford resident attended the Advanced Cosmetology Seminar held recently at Appalachian State University at Boone. The four day seminar was sponsored by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetology Association of North Carolina. Workshops were held in business management, hair chemistry, advanced hairstyling, men's styling and shop interior design. According to Mrs. Jessup, minimum care in hairstyling was stressed.

Extension Forum

A Summer tour of Canada will be sponsored by the Extension Homemakers of Perquimans County in August of 1975. Couples and friends are invited to participate on the nine (9) days and eight (8) nights tour. Registration will be on a first come, first serve basis by calling or stopping by the Extension Agents Office.

The following itinerary has been arranged by Mr. C.L. Trip — bus driver for Jordan Tour Service.

If you are interested in details, please call 426-7697.

1st. Day: Today your tour begins as you board your bus at scenic level. Your bus is air conditioned and rest room equipped. Our first stop is at Wakefield, Va., where we will enjoy a breakfast if the famous Smithfield ham biscuits, red eye gravy and coffee. (Included in tour). After breakfast we board our coach for our continued travel on the Interstate Highway to Washington, D.C. and on into the Penn. mountains. Our accommodations tonight await us in Harrisburg, Pa. Dinner at the Inn, time to be announced, included.

2nd. Day: We arise early, breakfast at the Inn, to be announced, included. Today we take the beautiful ride to Corning, N.Y. where we will stop at the home of the famous Steuben crystal glass. We continue on through the beautiful Finger Lakes Region of New York State. We travel the shore of Seneca Lake for several miles and over the New York Freeway, and arrive at Niagara Falls for a breathtaking view of the Falls. Our accommodations await us close to the Falls. Dinner will be at the Inn, time announced, included.

3rd. Day: Breakfast at the Inn, included. Those of you who like water vista today is a special treat for you. We cross the well and Ship Channel and follow the shore of Lake Ontario as it winds towards Toronto, Canada's second largest city. Tonight our accommodations await us at Toronto. Dinner at the Inn, time announced, included.

4th Day: Breakfast at the Inn, included. Today we stop at Ganapogue for a cruise of the Thousand Islands. The Panarama scenery alone is considered worth the whole trip. After our cruise, we reboard our bus to head for Canada's Capital City — Ottawa. A guided sight-seeing tour of the many points of interest await you. Overnight accommodations await us. Dinner at the Inn, time announced, included.

Build your future. Learn a trade.

Let's be practical. To build a future, you need a trade. And there are over 300 different skills you can learn in the Navy. You also get on-the-job training to back up your classroom work. And you get paid for learning.

Electronics, construction work, or mechanics, just to name a few. Of course, you're not getting something for nothing; you earn it. You gotta have what it takes to begin with, then measure up to high Navy standards, and show a willingness to do your share of the housekeeping chores.

The opportunity is for real... and so are we.
