What's Doing...

THE NEED: Many visually handicapped people have been and would like to continue to be regular patrons of the library but because of poor eyesight they are deprived of the pleasure of reading.

Perquimans Response No. 4

The Perquimans County Library recognizes that it has a responsibility to all the people — young, old, students, business and professional men and women and especially to the handicapped of all ages.

In addition to the large print books the Perquimans Library has a great number of light romantic novels with print a little larger than the average book but not quite as large as the "Big-Print".

With this responsibility in mind the library has acquired a number of books with very large print. These books come in a wide range of subjects ranging from a Perry Mason detective story to a Dickens classic, including books of poetry and philosophy and several good modern novels. Others may be borrowed from the State Library.

If any person wishes help in selecting or acquiring these books they will get it by calling the library — 426-5219. The librarian on duty or the bookmobile librarian will see that the need is filled.

A final note to the visually handicapped. Don't let your poor eyesight keep from you the pleasure of reading. The Perquimans County Library is there to help everyone.

Durants Neck Ruritan Club

By FRED A NELSON

The Durants Neck Ruritan Club — a community service organization — was organized twenty-seven years ago. It is among the oldest Ruritan clubs in North Carolina.

Ruritan first took root in a small Virginia town by the name of Holland in the year 1928, and has grown from the Tidewater area to the foothills of the Rockies; from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Ruritan has become the largest rural organization in America with membership composed of farmers, business and professional men, and other concerned citizens in the community.

Bobby Eure is the immediate president of the Durants Neck Club. Serving with him in the various offices are, Charlie Raymond Cartwright, vice president; Lawrence Spivey, secretary; and, Jim Robinson, treasurer. The present roster boosts a club membership of thirty-five. Although the age range is from 35 to 40 years, there is no restriction of age limit. All ages are welcome to join.

The club meets monthly on the 3rd Wednesday at 7 p.m. Meals are served by community organizations.

The purpose of Durants Neck Club is to serve the rural community through community projects. Recent projects have been: Replacing a roof on an elderly citizen's home; and the club voted recently to support expenses of a mentally retarded adult to Washington, D.C. Several past projects have involved clearing trash sites, and cleaning up and preparing the Wildlife access areas.

Several special occasions are carried out during each year by this club. In April and June the club honors senior citizens. Ladies Night is held in May. July is Family picnic time. Youth night is celebrated in September. Commemorating the month of December is a Christmas party with the Ladies.
