DAYS OF BEGINNING
(Acts 1:1-2)

The Gospel according to Luke contains a biography of Christ up to and including the narrative concerning his ascension. It tells us what our Lord began to do and to teach during his sojourn on the earth. While it is an account of some things which Christ did and said, it does not record the whole story by any means. Acts is a continuation of the story which was recorded in Luke's Gospel. On ten reported occasions Christ presented himself after his resurrection. His talking and eating with his disciples during the forty days between his resurrection and ascension settled their doubts, stabilized their opinions, and gave them courage.

Acts 2:22-32

Filled with, controlled by, and empowered by the Holy Spirit, Peter, who was formerly cowardly, was bold and courageous in speaking for Christ. Peter's sermon at Pentecost was truly a masterpiece. It was scriptural, logical, practical, pointed, personal, convincing, persuasive, and effective. In it Peter emphasized the manhood, Messiahship, miracles, and manifestation of Christ. He reminded his hearers that Christ has been "approved of God" among them. This approval was evident in the miracles and wonders and signs "which God did by him" in their midst. He proclaimed Christ as the redeeming, risen, and reigning Messiah.

Peter made much of the crucifixion of Christ. He knew that if the crucifixion were left out, with its stupendous message of the innocent suffering for the guilty, then the sermon would not bear the credentials of Christianity. Preaching, which is worthy of the name, magnifies the crucifixion of Christ and sets him forth as the one who bore our sin in his body on the cross. Peter made it clear to the Jews that they rejected Christ and they nailed him to the cross.

God demonstrated his approval of Christ by raising him from among the dead. Men had done everything within their power to prevent his resurrection — rolled a big stone in front of the entrance to the tomb, put a Roman seal on the stone, and then placed a guard of soldiers around the tomb as a final precaution. But, as Peter said, "It was not possible that he should be holden of death." The Old Testament scriptures, such as Psalm 16:8-10, had predicted the death and resurrection of Christ. Christ's deity was vindicated magnificently when he rose from the dead, which event was well attested. No fact in history is better attested than that of the resurrection of Christ, whom the people had seen, of whom they had heard, and the one whom God had approved. At least 120 persons bore witness to the fact of his resurrection. Peter avowed that he and his companions had actually seen him alive after he had arisen.

Peter's proclamation was born of the irrefutable fact of the resurrection of our Lord and his own personal knowledge of the glorious event. After proclaiming the reality of Christ's resurrection, Peter proceeded to declare his ascension and exaltation to the right hand of God, His ascension to the right hand of God and his enthronement there were followed by the outpouring of the Spirit. It is truly good to know that Christ lives and reigns.

Those who have wrought wondrous things for the Lord have been the ones who have received the good news of the life, death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, who have trusted him as their personal Saviour, who have been forgiven of their sins and gloriously saved, and who have been empowered by the Holy Spirit. They Holy Spirit gives up power to do exploits for God, to exhibit victorious Christian lives, and to promote the work of our Lord. Christians receive the power of the Holy Spirit through obedient waiting, humble self-emptying, whole-hearted willingness to be used, and earnest praying. The Holy Spirit cleanses us from sin, guides us in service, and empowers us for the spiritual tasks which are assigned to us.

$1,250 Raised By Rock-A-Thon

A Rock-A-Thon was conducted at First Assembly of God Church on Friday night, May 28, by the Christ Ambassadors, a youth group, for Speed-the-Light. Speed-the-Light is a mission effort by Assemblies of God youth to secure vehicles and printing equipment for missionaries. The event started out with 23 participants, 17 of which remained in the Rock-A-Thon until it ended 18 hours later. It was originally planned to run 24 hours, but the Pastor, Rev. Larn Underwood decided that the young people were getting too tired to continue longer.

Each participant secured sponsors from church members and merchants from the town which totaled $1,250 for mission. Mrs. Carolyn Chappell, coordinator for the Rock-A-Thon, wishes to express her thanks and appreciation for each sponsor and participant in the event.
