

Meredith Contribution

The husband of a former Hertford resident, now deceased, was recently honored when the Harriet Madre Wainwright Music Building was dedicated at Founders Day activities at Meredith College in Raleigh.

Mrs. Wainwright, a 1932 graduate of the women's college, was the wife of Irving H. Wainwright, retired president of Interstate Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Richmond, Va. She died in 1973 with a provision in her will for Meredith. Her husband has also provided support for the college in honor of his late wife.

The contribution amounted to $950,000 for a building including 30 practice rooms, five offices, a music library, a 175-seat auditorium and a faculty lounge. The building is a two-story brick and masonry structure.

The contribution was the most sizeable in the history of the college.

Several Perquimans County residents attended the dedication ceremony held Feb. 25.

struction, lecture, printed referral materials, diet forms and guidelines, insulin discussions and films to cover all aspects of diabetes.

Reassurance

Program Initiated

The Community Life Program and Inter-Agency Cooperative Program serving residents over the age of 60 in Pasquotank, Perquimans, Camden and Chowan counties has begun a telephone reassurance program with the assistance of local law enforcement agencies.

Telephone reassurance is a method whereby senior citizens can exchange a friendly hello with a representative of the Community Life Program (CLP) and at the same time gain a sense of security in knowing they will be checked on daily.

To join the program, you agree to call the center between 8:15 a.m. and 3 p.m.

(at your convenience) Monday through Friday. If we don't hear from you by 3 p.m., the CLP will call you to make sure all is well. If we are unable to reach you, a concerned neighbor or the police or sheriff's departments in your area will be called upon to assist. The police and sheriff's departments, the CLP stall, and much of the community feel that such telephone reassurance might be very helpful to many of our senior citizens.

If you are over 60 and/or disabled and would like to enroll yourself, a parent or grandparent in this daily check for reassurance, call Sammie Eure at 335-0711 for enrollment or further information.
