Taking A Look Backward

APRIL 1969
By VIRGINIA WHITE TRANSEAU
LIONS CLUB ORGANIZED TUESDAY:
L. N. HOLLOWELL ELECTED GROUP PRESIDENT: A local club of Lions International organized at the Hotel Hertford on Tuesday night while approximately 15 visiting Lions from Edenton lent moral support by their presence. L.N. Hollowell, local Chevrolet dealer, was elected president of the group by secret ballot; L.C. Winslow was elected first vice president; Durwood Reed, second vice president, and Julian White, third vice president. Norman Tureblood was assigned the duties of Lion Tamer. Henry Clay Sullivan was elected to "tail-twister" of the group. Organizer J. Barnett Napier, International Commissioner, officiated at the initial meeting as J.H. Towe, Charles Williford and Dr. I.A. Ward were elected members of the board of directors. Lucius Blanchard Jr. was elected secretary-treasurer.

FISHING BAN LIFTED ON EASTER AND MONDAY: In line with the past few years, the board voted to allow fishing on Easter Sunday and Monday, April 9 and 10. This applies only to the taking of warm water species and coarse fish and not to mountain trout. Game Warden J.H. Newbold, and all other county game refuge protectors have been notified of the lifting of the bans, and the season which closed on the first day of this month will be open for the two days set out above.

Training Offered

Naomi C. Hester, Program Administrator of the Aging Unit of the Albemarle Regional Planning and Development Commission (ARPD), has announced a Geriatric Nurse Practitioner Training Program to begin May 6 in Chapel Hill, N.C.

The Geriatric Nurse Practitioner Training at the University of North Carolina, School of Nursing at Chapel Hill has seven stipends available which allows $250 per person per month with no dependents. There is also a dependency allowance for applicants with children.

Applicants for the training program must be registered nurses and must have a local (back home) physician sponsor.

Training involved six months at the UNC School of Nursing in Chapel Hill and six months under a local physician sponsor at home. The training involves five days per week, six hours per day plus study time. Training has been supported by a federal grant and is in its last cycle under the grant. It is unlikely that the grant will be renewed.

Interested nurses should contact the Continuing Education Program at UNC School of Nursing by phoning 966-1411.

Easter reverence and a warning on Easter pets

Easter Services, Easter egg hunts, and fancy bonnets make this early spring observance a fun time for all. No matter what your religious views, all can appreciate the beautiful inspiration Easter brings of rebirth, soulful insight, reverence, family togetherness, and spiritual union.

"It's truly a beautiful season and a joyous occasion!"
From a health standpoint, however, here's a warning about "Easter pets." Traditional animals such as chicks, ducks, and bunnies cannot be housebroken and may cause the spread of a severe intestinal infection called salmonellosis. Give your children stuffed toys or chocolate "bunnies," instead, and have a healthier Easter!

Library Update

By WAYNE HENRITZE

More New Magazines

In last week's column, about half of the library's 60 new magazines were listed. In addition to those, the magazines being listed below are also being received and staff members are soliciting the public's help in building these back files by requesting back issues of the magazines listed this week and last: literary — American Heritage, Atlantic, Harper's, New York Times Magazine, Reader's Digest, Saturday Evening Post, and Saturday Review; hobby — HI Fidelity, Popular Electronics and Popular Science; school — National Geographic World, School Arts, Senior Scholastic, and Today's Education; and library — Library Journal, Booklist, School Library Journal, New York Times Book Review, Abridged Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature.

Easter Program

This week's story hour will have a special Easter program for children 3 to 5 years old. In addition to Easter stories, there will be Easter games and activities.

New Books for Adults

In the past two weeks the library has received a large number of new books which has allowed the "new book" rack to be completely restocked. A few of the new books are listed below.

The Court Martial of George Armstrong Custer by Douglas Jones speculates on Custer's fate if he had survived Little Big Horn.

Dress for Success by John Malloy not only tells men how men should dress and why, but it also provides advice on matching colors and patterns tastefully.

The Annotated McGuffey reprints sections from the old reading series and adds history and commentary.

The Nature of Alexander by Mary Renault is a lavishly illustrated biography of Alexander the Great.

The Crash of '79 by Paul Erdman anticipates the effects of a world oil and economic crisis.

Scandinavian Mythology is an attractive and readable treatment of the subject.

Young Pioneers by Rose Wilder Lane is the book the TV series sprang from.

The Captive of Kensington Palace by Jean Plaidy is a fictionalized story of young Queen Victoria.

Too Young to Die by Francine Kalasbrun examines youth and suicide.

Woman Doctor by Florence Haseltine, M.D., is the true story of her internship in a large urbane hospital.

The Rich Are Different by Susan Howatch deals with high society in the years between the World Wars.

Winfall Water Plan Discussed

TO THE EDITOR:

I read in an article that appeared in the March 10th issue of The Perquimans Weekly that the commissioners are discussing updating our water system. I can say our because I am a home owner in Perquimans County even though I am not living there at present.

I would like to have the commissioners look into the water system at Winfall. During my recent visit home I found the water to be very hard and apparently contained no water softeners or other ingredients used to remove the harsh chemicals from the water.

I was told that the chemicals were not being put in the water because the former employe quit and no one had been hired to fill his position. Without these chemicals in our water it is very hard on our plumbing. We have to use more soap and laundry detergents and it doesn't taste good. I am a taxpayer in Winfall so I have a right to complain. Please send me the names and addresses of the commissioners so I can file a formal complaint if necessary. I will appreciate your cooperation.

Memory Recalled

TO THE EDITOR

In the obituary column of your March 24 issue of The Perquimans Weekly I learned that Julian Fleetwood of Ferndale, Mich. has died.

The news brought back to me a very vivid memory of a time when Julian was one of the big boys in Hertford and I was a member of the little boys.

I enjoyed watching the big boys play baseball on the school grounds. When Julian came to bat he would stand at the plate swinging his bat as though he intended to knock the ball to kingdom come. And each time he would sound off the outfielders, "Stand back, fielders. Stand back."

Usually the fielders would move back in order to be able to catch the hit Julian was going to make. But time and again, Julian would fly out to the infield or hit a grounder. And sometimes he would just strike out.

But one day Julian strode to the plate, the picture of confidence, and yelled out his usual instruction to the outfielders.

But on this particular day, the outfielders remembering past performances of Julian, instead of moving farther out, moved closer in.

The pitcher wound up and pitched straight across home plate. Julian swung with all his might. Bat and ball connected with a loud bang. The ball took off. It rose in the air higher and higher than any one in Hertford had ever seen a ball soar. It kept on and on.

Few of the big boys in Hertford had ever knocked a ball as far as the Fowler house. But this time, Julian's hit not only reached that house, and so far as I know was never found again.

Julian, enjoying his triumph, strolled around the bases, and the scorer tallied up a home run. Casey had redeemed himself.

In the many years since, I have seen many baseball games and have seen many home runs made, but never have I enjoyed a baseball triumph more than I did when Julian made his mighty hit.

Hope you will publish this story.

Recipe Corner

The following recipe was submitted by Ms. Mae Wreathy Hollowell of Bay Branch Homemakers Club. Readers are invited to submit favorite recipes for inclusion in this column.

QUICK FRENCH TOAST
4 pieces of bread — white or dark, cut into halves
3 eggs, well beaten
1 tablespoon margarine or butter

Prepare night before by melting margarine in frying pan while beating eggs and salt together in bowl. Cut bread and dip each individually in bowl and place in frying pan. Let brown and turn only once. Remove to platter and cool. If desired, dust lightly with granulated or powdered sugar. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

The next morning, reheat under broiler or at toaster setting in toaster oven, turning once if desired. Butter and serve with jam, syrup or eat plain. Makes 2-4 servings.

SOFTBALL
Planning is now underway for the Perquimans County Recreation Association's softball season. Anyone interested in sponsoring a team or requesting more information can call: Peggy Byrum at 264-2590 for women's teams, or Tommy Nowell at 297-2226 for men's teams before May 1.

WHITE ELEPHANT SALE PLANNED

The Museum of the Albemarle will sponsor a White Elephant Sale at the museum on April 16. Anyone interested in donating a "white elephant" may call the museum at 335-1453 to have the item picked up.

PIANO KEY CLEANER
Many people use milk for cleaning piano keys, but yogurt has an even better effect.
