HOT WATCH 95. A WAY TO HELP KEEP ELECTRIC COSTS UNDER CONTROL.

The plan is really very simple. It begins when the temperature hits 95° or above. And it gives us all a great chance to do our part to help control energy use and electric costs.

The plan of action: Hot Watch 95.

When weekday temperatures go to 95° or higher, put Hot Watch 95 into action. This means, whenever possible, doing household chores that use a lot of electricity before 10 in the morning and after 10 at night. Be extra careful about using your water heater, range, washing machine, clothes dryer and dishwasher during the hottest parts of the day—since these are your largest power consumers.

Here's why.

Electricity, unlike oil or gas, can't be stored today. It's generated at the same moment it's used. So, as industries and businesses and consumers all use more electricity, the demand for electricity grows. And the need for more generating plants grows. That's why, on really hot days, if everyone would spread out the times for using electricity—to cooler times of the day—it would help reduce some of this peak demand. By reducing the peak, the need for new construction could be postponed. This, in turn, would help us achieve the one thing we all want: keeping future electric costs under control.
