Hertford by sending a generous cash contribution to be equally divided among each of Hertford's five churches, the Hertford Baptist Church, the Hertford Methodist Church and the Negro Baptist Church. The money has been turned over to the heads of the missionary societies of the various churches to be used for the children in those homes where Santa Claus might not find his way. Zach Toms appears to be following in the footsteps of his father, the late C.W. Toms. The generosity of C.W. Toms in Hertford, the place of his birth, will long be remembered.

When sneezing is healthy!

If you've got to sneeze, then sneeze. It's a healthy tradition. Despite "Aunt Minnie's" attempts to stifle her sneeze as socially impolite, we know it serves a good purpose. Sneezing is a protective gesture whereby we clear out a restricted breathing passage. One good "achoo" has been known to propel irritating substances 50 feet away. Perhaps this explains why primitive people, believing a portion of their soul was expelled by sneezing, always wished the sneezers good health. But, don't let sneezing carry you away. Ask your pharmacist about the latest sneeze-control remedies and hang onto your "soul."

Contractors Hold Meeting

The Northeastern N.C. Electrical Contractors Association held their Dec. supper meeting recently at the Knobbs Creek Parks and Recreation Center.

Bob Jordan of the R.S. Jordan Company sponsored the supper for all the members of the association and their wives.

Because of the special supper, the meeting was limited to a roll call, a reading and approval of the minutes, correspondence and treasurer's report.

ing since no wives have ever been invited to the suppers before this date.

Tuck's Bar-B-Q catered to the association with their delicious steaks and outstanding barbecue, along with salads, baked potatoes, slaw, sweet rolls, ice tea, and banana pudding.

After everyone had eaten and enjoyed the evening, the President brought the supper to a close and adjourned the meeting.

HOLIDAY BAKING HINT

Holiday time means luscious desserts, and that means chocolate. But did you know you can substitute unsweetened cocoa for baking chocolate in any recipe, cutting down on saturated fat. Three level tablespoons of cocoa plus one of shortening (use polyunsaturated oil or margarine) equals one ounce of baking chocolate.

SUBSTITUTE HANGERS

Paper clips make a good substitute for hanging ornaments hooks in an emergency.

WRAPPING IDEA

If and when you run out of wrapping paper, use aluminum foil decorated with colorful ribbons or tape.
