Brochures delivered

The long awaited full color brochure of Historic Edenton and Chowan County has been delivered to the Barker House. The brochure which was payed for through a grant from N.C. Travel and Promotion and matching funds from the Edenton Historical Commission has a picture of the Cupola House on the front cover and the Barker House on the back cover.

The brochure is the results of the Publicity and Promotion Committee of the Edenton Historical Commission. This committee included Mrs. J. Emmett Winslow, chairman; Mrs. W.J.P. Earnhardt, Jr., vice-chairman; Mrs. Lindsey Hornthal; Mrs. Helen Stevenson; Mr. Richard D. Dixon; Mr. Bud Amburn, and Mrs. Nancy Campbell.

The color brochure will be placed at N.C. Welcome Centers, other historic sites, the N.C. Travel bureau's and at other tourist attractions out of town. The Commission has already had printed at three color brochure for distribution at the Barker House Welcome Center.

The color brochure is primarily for the traveling public who is outside of the Edenton area. The three color brochure gives more detail and is primarily for visitors who are already in Edenton.

Mrs. Willis Smith. Jr. Daughter in law of U.S. Senator

All his life, Jesse Helms has worked to make things better than he found them.

When he came home from the Navy after World War II, a lot of young people were hanging around the street corners in Roanoke Rapids with nothing to do. So. Jesse went to work.

He and several other veterans, all members of the Jaycee chapter that Jesse helped start, hit on the idea of a baseball team for the town.

They were still nailing up grandstands while the pitchers warmed up for the first game...but, Roanoke Rapids now had a baseball diamond instead of street corners for its young people.

This same concern for the well being of others has been reflected in Jesse Helms' work for us in the United States Senate.

- · "No man in public life is held in higher esteem for his integrity and morality than Jesse Helms." - Alton Lennon, former U.S. Senator & long-term U.S. Representative
- Jesse Helms needs your vote in November. Let's re-elect Senator Jesse Helms.
