Most cooks will begin preparing Christmas goodies early this month, so I'll offer this somewhat different version of the traditional nuts and bolts snack. It stores well for several weeks, if packed tightly in tins.

1 box each Rice, Wheat, and Corn Checks
1 box Kix
1 box Pretzel sticks
1 lb. mixed nuts
2 pkg. pumpkin seeds

¼ bottle Tabasco
1 sm. bud of garlic, minced
2 T. Worcestershire sauce
2 T. savory sauce
2 T. celery salt
1 t. chill powder
1 t. curry powder

Set aside first six ingredients. Mix remaining ingredients together and add cereal, pretzels, nuts, and seeds. Stir with hands to coat. Bake at 200 degrees for one hour — stirring occasionally.

Seniors meet

A quilt raffle, painting course, petition for Safe-Way and membership in the state Senior Citizens Organization were the topics of discussion at the last meeting of the Memory Lane Senior Citizens Club.

It was announced that the club will be selling tickets for chances at winning a quilt at the cost of $1 each. The tickets, which were donated by Bank of North Carolina, may be purchased from any club member or from Patti White at the Senior Center. All proceeds will go to the club.

A painting course in acrylics and oil began last Tuesday. The cost of the course is $8 and does not include supplies.

A petition is being circulated now by club members which is designed to show the need for a Safe-Way Market locating in this area. Petitions must be in the hands of the company before their January meeting at which time the opening of new markets is considered.

The next meeting of the Memory Lane Senior Citizens will be in December with a covered dish luncheon

MATTHEW PRESENTS

THE MESSIAH

Matthew 1:1

The Gospel according to Matthew presents Jesus Christ as the promised Messiah. Matthew traced the family into which Jesus Christ was born through the foster father back through David to Abraham.

Matthew 1:17

From Abraham to David there were fourteen generations, from David to the Babylonian captivity there were fourteen generations, and from the Captivity to Christ's birth there were fourteen generations. The climax of the history of the Hebrews was the birth of the Saviour.

Matthew 5:17-20

To avert any misunderstanding concerning His attitude toward the Mosaic Law, Christ spoke to His disciples in the hearing of the multitude and told them plainly that He had not come to destroy the Law or the Prophets, but to fulfill them. Thus He sought to allay any prejudice on their part towards Him, and to incline them to receive His teachings.

Some contend that they no longer have anything to do with the law, saying, "We are not under the law but under grace." Admittedly Christians are not under law as a means to life, but the law remains the expression of God's will for them. God's law is eternal, never to be abrogated or set aside.

In verse 19, Christ denounced those religious leaders who were minimizing the importance of the commandments. It is certainly a mark of wisdom to obey the commandments and to teach obedience to them. It is a mark of pathetic smallness to break God's commandments and to teach others to disobey them.

Matthew 9:9

Passing through the official quarter of Capernaum, Christ found Matthew, who was a Jew in religion and a publican by profession, at his post at the receipt of custom. Christ's words, "Follow Me," and the look of love in His eyes caused Matthew to know beyond a doubt that the master was calling him into intimate friendship, to holy fellowship, and to sacred employment.

Knowing that this call involved the sacrifice of a lucrative post, the surrender of his ill-gotten gains, and the forsaking of his former manner of life and his worldly interests, Matthew instantly, unhesitatingly, and resolutely forsook all, arose, and followed Christ. His prompt obedience proved to be the pathway of safety and satisfaction for him.

Matthew 13:51-52

At the close of a long session of teaching the multitude a series of parables, Christ asked His disciples the awesome question: "Have you understood all these things?" To our amazement they unhesitatingly answered in the affirmative.

Accepting their reply at face value, Christ indicated clearly that it was their responsibility to declare unto others God's truth. What a glorious opportunity! What a tremendous obligation!
