

Elaine Twine awarded undergraduate grant

Elaine Twine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Twine, of Route 4, Hertford, has been named recipient of an $8,000 Undergraduate Fellowship at Atlantic Christian College, according to Dr. Harold C. Doster, president of the college.

To receive consideration for Atlantic Christian College Undergraduate Fellowships, candidates must have Scholastic Aptitude Test scores of 1100 or above, be in the upper quarter of their high school class, demonstrate leadership ability, and participate in a selection interview.

The purpose of the ACC Undergraduate Fellowship Program is to encourage academic excellence and campus leadership by providing special opportunities for students who demonstrate superior ability.

By placing the fellows in advanced programs and requiring them to assume responsible roles in academics and in campus positions, the college hopes to cultivate their potential and develop many leaders of the future.

Twine will enter Atlantic Christian at the beginning of the 1982-83 academic year and will major in business administration.

A senior at Perquimans County High School, Twine has been active in the Beta Club, Health Club, and the Letter Club.

She has served as the co-editor for the annual staff, varsity cheerleader, graduation marshal, and was named Perquimans County Outstanding Youth.

4-H Scholarship Recipient — C.F. Stallings, Jr. of Route 1, Belvidere, has been named the winner of a $500 educational scholarship from the N.C. 4-H Development Fund. He was one of ten 4-H members in the state to win the scholarship.

ECSU Summer offerings

Graduate

The Graduate Center at Elizabeth City State University announces that two graduate-level courses in Occupational Education will be taught at the Center this summer.

Registration for the first course, provided by North Carolina State University, is set for Monday, June 14, at 4:00 p.m., in room 120 Dixon Hall.

The course, "Introduction to Educational Inquiry," will be taught by Dr. James J. Davies.

The course is being made available to those in-service teachers with graduate standing or post-baccalaureate status.

Registration for the second NCSU course, "Curriculum Materials Development," is set for Monday, July 5, at 4:00 p.m., in room 228 Dixon Hall.

It is to be taught by Dr. Linda S. Dixon. The course also has prerequisites.

Registration of in-service teachers and other eligible applicants in courses provided by NCSU will complete the summer offerings at the ECSU Graduate Center.

The total summer program also includes graduate-level courses in Elementary Education provided by East Carolina University, and courses in Special Education provided by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Persons interested in the graduate program at ECSU's Graduate Center are urged to contact the Office of Special Programs and Services, Lane Hall, or by calling 335-3317.

Undergraduate

Dr. Floyd L. Robinson, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Director of the Summer School Program at Elizabeth City State University, announces that a supplementary registration for courses during the six-week summer session, June 14-July 28, is set for Monday, June 14.

"Although our Summer Program officially began on June 1, the six-week session offers numerous opportunities for recent or prospective high school graduates, area in-service teachers, as well as for undergraduates from other institutions who might wish to take advantage of our offerings while in the area," Dr. Robinson stated.

The ECSU Summer School Program provides approximately 150

undergraduate courses.

Many of these courses provide excellent opportunities for in-service teachers who need credits toward certification or re-certification.

In making the announcement, Dr. Robinson also called attention to the workshops that have been designed for area in-service teachers during the six-week session as well as during the final three-week session.

These include Education for the Gifted Workshop, Multi-Cultural Education Workshop, Geology of North Carolina for Teachers, Special Topics in Computer Science Workshop, Acting Workshop (Communication Through Acting), and the Play Production Workshop.

For additional information on the ECSU Summer School offerings, interested applicants are urged to contact the Summer School Office, room 132 Moore Hall, or by calling 335-3467.

Fresh broccoli is indeed one of the pleasures of spring. I steam the tender florets with about two inches of the stem and then use the tougher stalk to make a delicious soup. The soup is elegant served cold, topped with crutons.

FRESH BROCCOLI SOUP

chicken stock
onion
salt and pepper
light cream

crutons

Dice stems and onion and cover with chicken stock. Bring to a boil — cover — and simmer until stems are tender.

Cool. Place mixture in a food processor or blender and puree. Season with salt and pepper. Cool. Add cream. Serve in chilled bowls. Top with crutons.

The soup will be thick before stirring in the cream. It can also be served warm.

A STRONGER VOICE IN THE SENATE

My Friend,

I wish I could talk to you in person to tell you some of the reasons why I am running for the State Senate.

I feel so strongly that it matters who we send to Raleigh to represent us. So many things in our lives are affected by the actions taken by our state government: our jobs, our schools, our roads.

I believe we need a stronger voice in the Senate. We need someone to speak for us in committee and in Senate debate, to pass needed legislation, to forcefully present our particular needs to state agencies, and to bring a fair share of the state's funds to District 1.

We must have people representing us in the Senate who are able to build alliances, able to make friends, able to work with people, able to get things done.

There's much to do. Let's get started.

I need your vote on June 29.
