Perkins completes course

Roy M. Perkins of Hertford has recently completed the Environmental Protection Agency's first national field study course on the operation of wastewater treatment plants.

California State University, Sacramento, California, administers the program for EPA and has presented Perkins with a Certificate of Completion.

Topics covered in the course include all phases of the operation and maintenance of small wastewater treatment plants.

Dr. Kenneth Kerri, Program Director, stated that Perkins is one of many operators in the United States to complete the program. The course is available to all persons interested in the operation of wastewater treatment plants.

The Environmental Protection Agency expects over 600 operators throughout the United States to complete the program this year.

Area Home Health Services expanding

The Home Health Service through the district health department is expanding services to include hospice care. The hospice concept assists patients and families by providing support and care to the terminally ill so that the best quality of life possible is attained.

The program provides for care to enable the patient to remain at home. In order to make this service possible volunteers are needed from Pasquotank, Perquimans, Camden, Chowan and Currituck Counties.

A training program for volunteers will be held one night weekly from March 27 through May 29 at Room 115, John A. Holmes High School in Edenton and from April 5 through May 31 at Currituck County High School in Barco.

All sessions will begin at 7:00 p.m. and end at approximately 9:30 p.m.

District Quiz Bowl scheduled

The District 1984 Quiz Bowl will be held on Saturday, March 17, at 10:00 a.m. in the auditorium of Martin Community College in Williamston.

Teams will be from ten high schools which have competed in contests sponsored by the following library systems: Pettigrew Regional Library, Beaufort-Hyde-Martin Regional Library and Craven-

Pamlico-Carteret Regional Library.

The schools participating in the District Competition represent high schools in the following counties: Beaufort, Carteret, Chowan, Craven, Hyde, Martin, Pamlico, Perquimans, Tyrrell and Washington Counties.

The winner and the runner-up in the District will represent the area in the State Finals in Raleigh.
