The entrepreneurial concept

By JOHN SLEDGE
N. C. Farm Bureau Federation "Entrepreneur" is the "in" word in many circles and simply means those who assume the risk and management of business.

It is a word often used in speeches. Students seem to be interested in pursuing its study in the classroom and it's becoming a catchall word to portray our increasing interest in economic development.

It applies directly to agriculture since farmers were probably one of the first, if not the originators of the entrepreneurial concept.

They have always been risk takers and astute managers. How else could about three percent of the population manage to feed the other 97 percent and still have surpluses to help feed the rest of the world.

It's our biggest industry. As a matter of fact, farm assets are equal to about 70 percent of the capital assets of all manufacturing corporations in the United States.

Approximately 3.4 million work on the nation's farms and ranches. This is as many people as are employed in the combined industries of transportation, steel and automobiles.

Agriculture also requires the services of 15 to 16 million people to store, transport, process and merchandise the output of farms. Another three million people provide the seeds, fertilizers and other supplies farmers use for production and family living.

A recent study shows that for each $1 million farmers spend on livestock, machinery, buildings and other farming inputs, more than 100 new jobs are created to service their needs.

The efficiency of agriculture is demonstrated by the fact that one farm worker supplies enough food and fiber for 76 people. How's that for "entrepreneurship!"

The United States has more radios than any other country in the world.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448)), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 67.4 (a). These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 605(b), the Administrator, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the flood plain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts flood plain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the flood plain and do not proscribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact. Lessees and owners of real property in the Unincorporated Areas of Perquimans County, North Carolina are encouraged to review the preliminary Flood Insurance Study and Flood Insurance Rate Map available at the address cited above. Proposed base flood elevations along flood sources studies in detail are shown on the flood profiles in the Study. The flood sources studied in detail are:

Range of Base Flood Elevations Depth in Feet above ground Elevation in feet (NGVD)
Perquimans River 7 - 7
Mill Creek 7 - 7
