New coastal striped bass regulations set for sportsmen

The N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission and the N.C. Marine Fisheries Commission recently approved new regulations on legal size and creel limits for striped bass. Sport fisherman should be aware that these regulations are now in effect in the coastal region of North Carolina.

In the coastal sounds, rivers, and creeks (not including impounded waters), hook and line fishermen may keep only three strippers per day. On waters designated as "Inland" and "Joint" the size limit for stiped bass is 16 inches.

According to Division of Marine Fisheries regulations, in waters designated as internal "Coastal," the legal size limit for stipers is 16 inches until September 30, 1985. After that date, the size limit in internal "Coastal" waters will be 14 inches. Striped bass caught on hook and line cannot be sold, regardless of where they are caught.

Throughout the coastal region of North Carolina, inland, joint, and coastal waters boundary lines are marked with prominent orange signs.

For a complete listing of these boundaries, write to N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission, 512 N. Salisbury St., Raleigh, N.C. 27657.

These new regulations were enacted by the Wildlife Resources Commission and the Marine Fisheries Commission in order to conserve dwindling stocks of coastal striped bass.

The largest jigsaw puzzle in the world measured 15 feet by 10 feet and contained over 10,000 pieces.
