Pirates blow past Northampton Hurricanes Friday

MURFREESBORO - Defense again proved to be the key Friday as the Pirates beat Northampton West to advance to the third round of the 1A playoffs.

Perquimans held the Hurricanes to 81 total yards on offense and only allowed two first downs as the Pirates won 9-0. They now face the third round game at Tabor City on this Friday.

Coach Flippen said that the game plan was to make the Hurricanes score on the Pirate defense. "Our defense hasn't given up a touchdown all year," said an excited Flippen.

From the start of the game defense was the key for the Pirates. It wasn't long before the Hurricanes knew Perquimans meant business. Hurricane quarterback Quincy Crossen fell back to make a pass in the first quarter and was immediately hit by Fletcher for a quarterback sac.

The early minutes of the game, and the whole first quarter were characterized by vicious hits from both defenses. Both teams seemed shaken after some of the hits, and running backs from both squads shook their heads after some plays.

Both teams seemed to be at a stale mate, and the only first down came to the Pirates on a roughing the kicker penalty.

The first break in the game came at the end of the first quarter following a Pirate fumble. Beginning on the Pirate 37, the Hurricanes lost a total of eight yards in just three plays. On the fourth down, the Hurricanes elected to pass the ball from a punt formation. The play almost worked, but Kirby Ransom dropped the ball.

The big play of the game came shortly after Ransom dropped the ball. Anthony Johnson took a pitchout and got a terrific block from teammate Rodney Welch. Johnson raced 55 yards down the right sidelines for a touchdown. Johnson became everyone's hero, and the large Perquimans crowd cheered.

During the whole first half the Pirate Defense kept getting the team out of tough situations. The Pirates fumbled the ball twice within the final three minutes of the first half within their own territory.

With 29 seconds the Pirates had a close call as they dropped the ball on the 19 yard line. After a nine yard pass play that ended with an incomplete pass, the Hurricanes lined up for a 28 yard field goal with one second left on the clock.

Northampton went for another trick play, but once again they made a mistake. The ball was snapped, but batted away by Xavier Everett. Linebacker Darnell Mallory was there to intercept the deflection.

The Pirate defense ruled the second half. The Hurricanes obtained just one first down on an 18 yard scramble by Crossen.

The play came midway through the third quarter.

The Hurricanes deepest penetration in the game was on the Pirate 35 yard line with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

The Pirates won the game following another failed pass play by Northampton. Beginning at the Northampton 49 yard line the Pirates drove to the nine yard line.

On fourth down from the nine yard line Xavier Everett kicked a 26 yard field goal.

Donald Porch, the Hurricanes star running back was limited to just 26 yards and 13 carries. Porch gained over 1,300 yards and scored 16 touchdowns in the regular season. Coach Flippen stated that the Pirates kept two linebackers on Porch throughout the game.

Flippen said that the strategy of the game differed from the two teams meeting in Hertford. In Hertford both teams played it safe. On Friday the Pirates gambled, and it paid off. "I think they thought they could blow us away," said Flippen.

After Friday's win the Pirates travel to Tabor City, who defeated Richland Friday 36-16. If Perquimans beats Tabor City on Friday, they will host the West representative for the state championship game.

Northampton West finished the year 11-2.

Texas Gulf Tour held

Approximately 57 county residents toured the Texas Gulf Phosphate Mining Operation in Aurora, North Carolina as part of Perquimans County's observation of Farm City Week.

The group traveled by bus to the plant and got to see all phases of the operation including dredging, preparation for mining and the refining process.

The group also ate lunch at the Texas Gulf Employees Center. The employees center is a former horse stable which was converted to hold employee functions, and provide luncheon facilities for such groups.

The group also visited the Texas Gulf Museum on the grounds of the plant, and saw a film on phosphate deposits in the area.

White elected chairman

On Monday morning W.W. 'Welly White', and William Wray Chappell were sworn in for another term as County Commissioners.

Jarvis Ward, Perquimans County Clerk of Superior Court was on hand to administer the oath of office to both commissioners at their regular monthly meeting.

The Commissioners also elected Welly White to another term as Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, and Lester Simpson will serve another term as Vice Chairman.

Several county farmers, along with Representatives from the Soil Conservation Service attended Monday's meeting to plead with the commissioners for sufficient office space.

The Soil Conservation Service is currently located on Dobbs Street in the Social Services Building, and both departments are working with insufficient office space.

Outlining the SCS's success, and reviewing highlights of their programs members asked the commissioners to make suitable arrangements so they can continue to do their work. The commissioners acknowledged the SCS's problem, and stated that due to the growth in the county the problem of enough office space for county employees is growing. The Commissioners stated that they will be looking into an alternative housing solution for the SCS, and suggested that they might purchase a trailer to use temporarily until a building can be constructed or renovated for office space.

Stan Winslow was also on hand Monday to ask the board to appropriate a salary increase for Jeff Copeland. Copeland has recently been promoted to Area Livestock Agent, and will cover Gates, Perquimans, and Chowan County under a new program outlined by the State Extension Service. The new program will bring to Perquimans County the service of two additional extension agents. One new agent will serve in the area of Farm Management, and One will serve in the Horticulture area. The Farm Management agent will be based in Gates County, and the Horticulture Agent will be based in Chowan County. Jeff Copeland will be based here. Each of the agents will work an equal time in each county, and the extension service feels that all three counties will benefit under the new program.

The Commissioners also discussed procedures for proper disposal of unclaimed bodies in the county. Mr. Swindell, and Mr. Stallings, both funeral directors in the county were on hand for the discussion, and recommended that the county set up some sort of guidelines for disposal of the bodies. Randy Keaton, County Manager stated that the medical schools in the state who normally accept bodies are being swamped, and are now refusing several bodies which is posing a problem for funeral directors.

The Funeral Directors are forced to incur the expense for burial of unclaimed bodies if the money can not be raised by church or some other source. Both Swindell, and Stallings said that they were more than willing to donate their services, but that they could not incur all the expenses. Although the problem does not occur often the commissioners are going to look into establishing some sort of guidelines. The matter will be discussed at a later meeting.

Sheriff Joe Lothian was also on hand to introduce a new Sheriff's deputy Tony Perry, and to discuss plans to purchase a new car for the department.

The commissioners also adopted the 1987 valuation schedule for tax listings in the county.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Retiring directors, Hal Byrum, Larry Chappell, Kent Copeland, and Lewis Evans were recognized by Mary C. Harrell. Also recognized at the banquet were those businesses in the county over 50 years old.

In his closing remarks, Retiring President Hal Byrum thanked the board members, Mary Harrell, and the members of the chamber for their continued support over the past year.

Mary Harrell introduced the new officers for the upcoming year. The new officers are Bryant Perry, Perry Hog Farm, President, Larry Swindell, Swindell Funeral Home, Vice President, and Pat Ward, Farm Bureau Insurance, Treasurer.

Mayor Bill Cox introduced the evening's speaker, Cecil E. Winslow, Winslow-Blanchard Motor Company who spoke on Motivation, and the Problems Facing Businesses Today.

In his remarks as the incoming President, Bryant Perry pledged to work hard, and asked for everyone's continued support of the chamber.

Tickets were then drawn for the many door prizes donated by Chamber of Commerce members.

There being no further business, Perry adjourned the meeting.

They are raffling off a five foot teddy bear to raise additional funds, and the Coke Company has donated free coke for which they are getting a $1.00 donation per six pack while they last.
