National library week to be observed in schools

In observance of National Library Week, April 6-11, the school libraries in Perquimans County are all planning special activities. Governor James G. Martin has proclaimed Wednesday, April 8, 1987, as "School Library Media Day" and encourages the citizens of North Carolina to become aware of the contributions of school library media programs in our schools.

The theme for the North Carolina Association of School Librarians' celebration of School Librarians' Media Day is "Take Time to Read—Use Your School Library Media Center." Media personnel in all public schools in North Carolina are planning a special "Read-In" at two o'clock the afternoon of April 8. At this time all students, teachers, administrators, and other school employees will pause to enjoy reading.

In addition to the "Read-In" on Wednesday, our school libraries will have other activities during the school week. At Central School, Mrs. Diane Sivills, librarian, has planned a comic strip contest, a book mark contest, and a puppet show to be given to the kindergarten by the fourth graders.

At Hertford Grammar School, the librarian, Mrs. Eudora Harvey, has planned the following special activities for the week: story hour, door decorations for all classrooms, book mark contest, computer skills demonstration for adults, Indian arrow heads demonstration and media display.

During National Library Week, the Perquimans Union School library will observe fine-free days. Students will have the opportunity to turn in all overdue books without the penalty of fines. Additionally, Mrs. Darla Matthews, librarian, will conduct a reference contest with daily prizes. She will also show the film, "Bookstory," to the fifth and sixth graders who will make book jackets and book marks.

Perquimans High School students will also have fine-free week during April 6-11. Mrs. Carroll Harrell, librarian, and the library assistants have been invited to attend a presentation of book reports given by the Honors Program students at Elizabeth City State University on Tuesday, April 7. The high school library will conduct a different slide program for students and teachers each day to demonstrate how the media center supports each area of the curriculum with resource materials. The library assistants are conducting a survey of "the favorite book" of members of our community and school.

Look for results of this survey in next week's edition of the Perquimans Weekly. College reading lists will be available for the high school students and on special display with the books on these lists.

Carisa Harrell and Vitita White, fourth graders in Mrs. Ferrell's class at Hertford Grammar School really enjoyed their lesson on drawing portraits.

Both girls look forward to the days they have art and enjoy using different materials, looking at art and just having fun.

DRIVING AT A DISADVANTAGE

Safe driving depends on good vision. It has been estimated that some 90 percent of driving decisions are based on vision. As changes in your vision are often gradual and imperceptible, you may be unaware that you are driving at a disadvantage.

The only way to find out if your vision is good enough for safe driving is to have them examined periodically. A thorough examination will test for ALL the necessary skills. There's much more to it than visual acuity (being able to read the eye chart).

For safe driving, you also need good peripheral vision, the ability to "see out of the corner of your eye." Depth perception, the ability to judge between yourself and other objects. Eye coordination, the ability to focus both eyes at the same objects quickly easily, and automatically. Accomodation, the ability to change focus from near to far and vice versa.

If you haven't had your eyes examined recently, isn't it about time you did? You owe it to yourself, and everyone else on the road.
