Student nurses honored

Nursing students from College of the Albemarle's associate degree nursing programs were honored at Albemarle Hospital on May 7 during a stripping ceremony. The event marked the end of first-year training for the 14 students.

During the ceremony instructor Frances Jeffries addressed the students. She praised their devotion to their new career, demonstrated by successful completion of the first half of the difficult program of nursing education offered at the school.

As part of the traditional ceremony, instructors added a second blue diagonal strip to the nurses cap of each student. The stripe indicates that the student is a senior. A single diagonal stripe is worn by freshmen and a long stripe is worn by graduates.

Head nurses and administrative personnel from Albemarle Hospital attended the ceremony, which concluded with a luncheon sponsored by the hospital. Students affiliate with the hospital during their freshman year in the nursing program.

Those honored at the event included: Judith East and Barbara Marcello of Camden, Rhonda Jones and Darlene Roberst of Shawboro, Sara Wilson of Edenton, Sharon Werner of Hertford, and Juanita Bostic, Helen Clark Medina Jones Valerie Massa, Amy McGinnis, Susan Miller, Sharon Spence and Lisa Smith all of Elizabeth City.

Nursing student, Sharon Werner of Hertford receive a second stripe on her nurses cap during a May 7 ceremony at Albemarle Hospital. The stripe denotes that Mrs. Werner has successfully completed the first year of nursing education of the two-year College of The Albemarle Associate Degree Nursing Program.

Mrs. Werner was one of 14 women to be so honored at the Albemarle Hospital-sponsored ceremony. She plans to graduate in May 1988, at which time she will be eligible to take state examinations for registered nurse license.

Mrs. Werner is married to Scott Werner and has two sons, Scott, Jr. and Alex.

Pettigrew library receives funds for bookmobile

Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company presented $700 to Pettigrew Regional Library on Wednesday, to help purchase and stock a second bookmobile. Dick Flye, District Community Relations Manager, delivered the check to regional library headquarters with best wishes from Carolina Telephone, saying "We are very pleased to be a part of this effort."

The Community Relations team recognizes the importance of bookmobile service to rural residents, and hopes to be able to help the library meet its goal in other ways in the future.

In addition, Secretary of North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources, Patric Dorsey, has notified Pettigrew Regional Library that it will receive $18,000 from federal funds to assist in the bookmobile purchase. Recommendation to fund the Pettigrew request was made by the North Carolina Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) Advisory Council along with State Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) Advisory Council along with State Library Grants Administrator, John Welch. The Advisory Council based its decision on such factors as the geographic area and population served, bookmobile circulation as a percentage of the total library circulation, condition of the current vehicle, and the availability or commitment of other funds for the proposed purchase. According to Martie Smith, Regional Library Director, "The success of our bookmobile service to our rural residents, and the funds we already had committed to the bookmobile reserve account made our application one of the most viable."

Currently, one bookmobile serves as a mobile branch library for the entire Pettigrew Region, which includes Chowan, Perquimans, Tyrrell, and Washington Counties. It makes twice monthly visits to stores, businesses, and fire stations, as well as the homes of home-bound residents. During the past four years the bookmobile has doubled the number of books it loans per year, and the number of people using bookmobile service has grown almost 200 percent.

The purchase of a second bookmobile will ensure uninterrupted, dependable service during periods when the current vehicle on each side of the Albemarle Sound, thereby reducing overall mileage and wear on the bookmobiles while serving the same number of locations. The additional vehicle will provide more space for books, and more staff time for personal attention to the needs of its patrons.

Smith explains, "With no increase in staff anticipated in the near future, we don't expect the new bookmobile to create any drastic changes in our scheduling. However, it will allow us to make the most of the staff time we have, and to allow us much more flexibility for considering future expansion as the need arises."

Pettigrew Regional Library hopes to purchase the additional bookmobile by early fall. Of the total of $46,000 needed for the vehicle and book stock, $20,000 has been put aside over several years from State funds, and Weyerhaeuser gave $1,600 toward the project. The addition of the LSCA grant and gift from Carolina Telephone brings the library within $7,300 of its target. "Excitement grows as we near our goal" Smith said. "This new bookmobile will be invaluable to us in maintaining and expanding our services. With a little more help from friends like Carolina Telephone and Weyerhaeuser, we are going to be able to get it without having to ask our Counties to help. That's good news for everybody."
