Hertford men hit by van

One killed

A Hertford man was killed and another injured last Wednesday evening after being struck by a motorist as they walked down Harvey Point Road.

Joseph Michael Talmadge, 25, of 104 Railroad Ave., was dead at the scene of the acci-dent. According to the report filed by Highway Patrol Trooper W.S. Shepherd, Talmadge and Donald Wayne Ashley, 20, of 108 Railroad Ave., were struck by a 1985 Ford van operated by Frances B. Perry, 40, of Rt. 5, Hertford. The incident occurred around 6:50 p.m.

Perry was traveling east on Harvey Point Road, while Talmadge and Ashley were walking east in the roadway. Perry's vehicle hit both men before coming to rest on the left shoulder of the road. One of the pedestrians ended up on the right shoulder of the road, while the other was in the roadway.

Approximately two minutes later, another accident was re-ported at the same site. Ernestine Jones Strickland, 55, of Rt. 5, Hertford Beach Road, was traveling east on Harvey Point Road when swerved right to avoid hitting one of the accident victims lying in the road. She struck the right ditch bank, overturned and came to rest on the struck of her webiele in a the wheels of her vehicle in a ditch. Strickland was not in-jured, but the 1985 Cadillac she was driving received an esti-mated $3,500 in damages.

The highway patrol reported that one or more motorists who had passed the two pedestrians minutes before the accident occurred reported that Talmadge and Ashley were walking east on Harvey Point Road in the right hand lane and were in the roadway when the motorists passed.

Discarded trees to be recycled

The Perquimans, Chowan, Gates Regional Landfill plans to expand its Christmas tree disposal/recycling project this year. The project began in 1990 with one collection container at the Gates County Community Center. This year collection containers will be available at the Gates County Community Center, Missing Mill Park in Hertford, Midway Drive near Cape Colony and the American Legion near Edenton. Containers will be available all day from Dec. 25 through Jan. 3, 1992.

According to Jerry Parks, Solid Waste Director for the counties, disgarded trees cause several problems. The trees take up valuable space in the collection containers, vehicles, and the local landfill. Trees placed in the provided containers will be chipped and recycled or reused as the resulting material. Several environmentally sound op-tions are being investigated. These options include transport-ing to one of the local paper plants for use as boiler fuel, integrating the chips with sand to use for daily ground cover at the landfill, and stabilizing or mulching of ditch banks for erosion control at the landfill.

Anyone who would like to have some of the mulch for their own use may have as much as they like at no cost.

For the project to be suc-cessful it is important that the Christmas trees only be placed in the provided containers. Contamination with wrapping paper boxes, or other household trash will jeopardize the entire project.
