PERQUINANS WAS NOW OF THE LANGE OF THE LANGE

PCHS celebrates seniors on Senior Night, pages 5 & 9

"News from Next Door"

NOVEMBER 5, 2014 - NOVEMBER 11, 2014

50 cents

Schools looking at ROTC program

BY PETER WILLIAMS News Editor

The Perquimans County Schools is considering bringing a Junior ROTC program to the high school.

The school board agreed last week to continue to study the issue. If enough students want the program and if the money can be found to pay for it, it could be one or two years before it's in place.

Perquimans has not had an on-site junior Reserve Officer Training Program program in the past but it did partner with the Edenton-Chowan schools to send Perquimans County students that wanted to participate to Edenton.

But now a vast majority of students in northeastern North Carolina do have access to a JROTC program and Perquimans officials want to see if there is interest locally.

Perquimans, with 1,772 students, is the largest county in the northeast that does not have one. The others without a program are Gates County with 1,652 students, Hyde with 588 and Tyrrell with Each branch of the military offers a JROTC program, but the Army's program is the largest. Of the 12 high schools that offer JROTC in the northeast, eight are aligned with the Army. Three — Northeastern, Pasquotank and Currituck — are Air Force programs. Camden's works with the Coast Guard.

It appears unlikely that the Perquimans County program would be associated with the Army. For now, the Army has put on hold on any new programs, said Lt. Col. George Nelson, the instructor at John A. Holmes High School. The Army has 1,731 JROTC units in 50 states, but has reached its funding limit.

Nelson said no matter what branch of the military that's involved, the programs are all similar.

"In the military the truth changes pretty quickly, but if it is Air Force, Army or Navy, they're all about the same," Nelson said last week. "All of them focus on citizenship and

See ROTC, 2

HALLOWEEN DOWNTOWN

STAFF PHOTOS BY PETER WILLIAMS

Dr. Robert Lane (top photo. right) and Devin Gregory escort Lane Gregory down Market Street during Halloween in Hertford on Friday.

Shayon Richards (bottom photo) dressed as a doctor to go trick or treating in downtown Hertford Friday.

NCDOT sets hearing date

BY PETER WILLIAMS News Editor

The N.C. Department of Transportation is scheduled to hold a hearing Nov. 13 on plans to replace the S-Bridge in Hertford.

The open house event will run from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. at the Perquimans County Recreation Center. A presentation will be made at 5:30 p.m.

In September 2013 DOT held a hearing in Hertford and based on previous studies and public reaction, it selected an option that includes a 33-foot-tall fixed bridge that would extend off Church Street. In July, DOT presented more detailed plans of what is known as Alternative D-Mod.

However some Perquimans residents told ocal officials and DOT they wanted to see more detailed plans for an option known as Alternative B. It would involve a swing-span bridge similar to the S-Bridge, but would have 15 feet of clearance for boats. The S-Bridge has less than six feet of clearance.

The Nov. 13 meeting will include updated designs for both Alternative B and Alternative D-Mod. presentation will include 3-D renderings showing what the bridges would look like.

The towns of Hertford and Winfall requested DOT hold off on moving forward on D-Mod last spring until another meeting could be held. That was done in July DOT has favored Alternative D-Mod in part because

See HEARING, 2

Child service agencies hold mixer in Edent

From staff reports

The Chowan/Perquimans Smart Start Partnership held an Albemarle area agency mixer Oct. 27 to give representatives of different agencies that work with children the opportunity to get to know each other and learn more about what the other agencies do.

There were 74 people who attended, representing 45 agencies. The event, held at Leon Nixon Collaborative Committee. Catering in Edenton, was East Carolina Behavioral sponsored by the Transfor-someone to the event, I mation Zone grant and the described some of the tation coach for Chowan goals and tried to get them. County's Transformation Health Chowan County to visualize what it would Zone grant.

be like to know where to "When I was inviting send a family for help," said Sarah Williams, implemen-

The grant is part of the Race to the Top grant and was awarded to fort and Hyde counties. The agencies that partici-

Chowan, Bertie, Beau-

PHOTO COURTESY SARAH WILLIAMS

Representatives from Albemarle area agencies participate in "agency speed dating" during the Albemarle Area Agency Mixer on Oct. 27.

pated in planning the event

Chowan/Perquimans Smart Start Partnership, ECBH, Albemarle Regional Health Services Triple P. Our Place and the Albemarle Pregnancy Resource Center.

Williams said participants were mainly from

Sèe MIXER, 2

Lack of meeting space holding library back

BY PETER WILLIAMS News Editor

Public libraries may be all about books and words, but supporters of a plan to build a new one in Perquimans County say it's the numbers that show the need for more Perquimans is the smallest of the four libraries in the Pettigrew library system. The branch in Tyrrell County has 7,500 square feet, Washington has 8,900 square feet and Edenton's Shepard-Pruden has 12,000 square feet.

The other three libraries also have something that Perquimans County lacks — a place for meetings. That also shows in the numbers.

In the fiscal year that the librarian in Hertford. With 5,900 square feet, ended in June, Perquimans County had 93 people par- library on its 10 year capital ticipate in meetings at the improvement program but library. The Washington library by comparison had 10 times that amount and meeting attendance at the Edenton library totaled 2,560. Even Tyrrell County, with a county population less than a third of Perquimans, had 1,759 people attend library programs.

> "We have no place to meet,' said Anita Bennett,

The county has put a new so far the $2.5 million to build it hasn't been committed. It's not just about meetings. Libraries in the Pettigrew system still do a brisk business when it comes to books. In the fiscal year that ended in June, Perquimans circulated 32,000 books. It

See LIBRARY, 2

Hundreds turn out early to vote

From staff reports

Democrats made a strong showing in early voting for Tuesday's general election.

Through the end of early voting Saturday, 751 Democrats had cast a ballot. That compares to 472

453 Republicans.

Women outnumbered Perquimans County men by a margin of 882to-795. Whites also outnumbered blacks by a margin of 1,326-to-343.

Election results from Tuesday were not available due to the Perquimans Weekly deadline. Results will be published unaffiliated voters and in the Nov. 12 edition.

Sponsored by the Rocky Hock

$10.00

Ruritan's Relay for Life Team Tickets Available at various locations or call 252-221-4875 or 252-340-3438. Email rockyhock opry@live.com