LET'S GET IN THE GAME AND COOPERATE

Here we are again asking all of you readers to cooperate with the reporters and editors in newsgathering. We are reminding you that to make THE CHATTER reflect a true account of the happenings in the lives of everyone in "The Erwin Family" the need for pictures is one that cannot be stressed too often or too strongly. Take your camera with you on those week-end outings. And don't forget the youngsters are taking advantage of the summer season to enjoy their favorite pastimes. Snap them in their playsuits, their bathing suits or at bat! Bring the prints to one of the reporters and they will be printed as soon as possible.

Since the printing of our first edition, we notice increased interest by all employees in their newspaper. It is gratifying to the staff to know that they have your support in making each succeeding issue better than the previous one. But more cooperation is needed and while you are doing a fine job of working with your reporters, it is asked that you report as often as you know something that will be of interest to your fellow workers.

You don't have to write a detailed story. Just make a note of the occasion and where. Perhaps a house party commemorating an anniversary; a family reunion or the youngster's birthday party. Or the fish you caught (and the one that got away) tell briefly what happened and give the word to your reporter.

Don't be bashful. If you don't want to write the news, tell it to one of your reporters; that is what they want you to do—that is what they've been waiting for. Without your help it is impossible to gather news items to print and without them we have no employee stories. The newspaper wants to tell the story of each and every one and to do that you should report the news highlights in your daily lives.

A delay in turning in pictures is one big cause for missing deadlines. All photographs should be turned in as quickly as possible. The story can come in later.

All photographs will be returned to you in perfect condition. We do not mutilate them in any way. The engraver returns them without loss or damage so if you have a photo you value highly, don't hesitate to entrust it to us.

If you know of any big event that needs a picture taken, notify the editor's office and an attempt to get a picture will be made. It is hoped soon that every event that takes place around our communities can be photographed when they are newsworthy. Photo supplies are increasing and the paper now owns a camera for picture getting.

You've done a swell job and your sincere appreciation in receiving your own newspaper is expressed best by your personal effort to fill it with human interest stories about yourselves and those you associate with. It is the editorial staff's desire to give you a paper that you can proudly pass along to your neighbor or mail to a relative. And if you have suggestions for additional features—or prefer certain types of articles—tell us what you like and we will give your suggestions consideration. YOU'VE GOT A GOOD PAPER—HELP TO MAKE IT BETTER THROUGH YOUR COOPERATION!

Dedication to "Thing" Shoaf—"Don't Fence Me In." Yes, we know it's too late, but what can we do about it?

With the peach season coming in I suppose a certain girl will have to have some hints and maybe some help with her canning.

Listen, Mr. ?? We heard that that was the first headache powder you have ever taken. Could it be you had too much vacation?

Tom, what are you trying to sell now?

Amy has a plan as to how they can get a new car. We surely hope it works.

It appears that Mr. Frank is the champion hog raiser. What about it, Mr. Frank? Any hams for sale?

Everyone on the second shift seemed to enjoy his vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eaton spent a few days in Asheville. Riding through the mountains were Ralph Forrest, Bill Shoaf and Ruby Alexander. Helen Campbell visited in Washington, D. C. We came back through Winston-Salem, and there sat Leslie Campbell. Martin Latham rode to Cool Spring, and who was there but Edith Miller enjoying some ice cream. George Snider was in Mooresville. Virginia Plott went to the beach and on her way home saw William Painter and David Snider fishing on the river bank. Who was up on the farm but Willie Brown looking for a cow. J. F. Penninger plowed corn and cotton while William Kurfees dug potatoes and T. C. McClamrock put up hay. We looked for Bill Beauchamp everywhere and finally found him picking blackberries. We had a time finding Clarence Forrest, too, but when he came "up" he had dug a well. As we got closer home we found Willie Pearl McDaniel and Ada Carter had been remodeling their homes, while Bessie Holder was under the care of a doctor. Last of all we found Enoch Smith all smiles. He is receiving congratulations on a new granddaughter.

We are sorry to report Felix Cartner and Linzy Watkins on the sick list.

Wonder if Livengood puts his return address on letters he writes. He received one back with a few more lines added. Is he interested in an office girl?

CARDING

Reporting:
"SAM" BOGER

We have heard a lot of sad stories from some of the boys in the Card Room, but Milton Plott came up with a new one. He saw a rainbow from the window and offered half the pot of gold at the end of it if he could get off to go out and get it. It didn't work out that way, so try again, Plott.

From all reports most of the employees on the second shift spent a quiet vacation at home and no one got hurt.

Mrs. Ruby Nichols, one of our second shift drawing hands, is leaving us now that the war is over. She is going back to house-keeping. Good luck, Ruby.
