Swimming Pool Open Sunday and Monday

The swimming pool will have only limited days for being open this summer due to the added machines in the Finishing Plant. These machines take up a great deal of water and at the present, the filter plant cannot supply enough water for the pool and mill operations. However, the filter plant is being doubled in its capacity so that by next summer this situation should be altered.

The only two days that the pool can be definitely counted on to be open are Sunday and Monday. Tuesday is another day that the pool will probably be open and possibly later on it will be open on Saturdays.

The hours on weekdays are 9 to 11:30 a.m., 2 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. On Sundays the pool is open from 2 to 6 p.m. The prices of admission are the same as last year.

On Saturday, July 4, the pool opened every day except Wednesday for ten straight days during Vacation Week and the following weekend.

Trip to Mt. Mitchell

Reported by Clarence Forrest and Family

We have seen the Blue Ridge Mountains many times, and a few times in the rain. We have also been through the Great Smokies. But, never before, until a Saturday past, did we leave a hot, dry, dusty farm early in the morning and before noon climb right on up through the clouds and rain to reach the top of old Mt. Mitchell. As we gazed from the observation tower on top of Mt. Mitchell, we were so enveloped in clouds that it was as though we were on a tiny island looking out across the ocean.

On our way back, we had both showers and sunshine. The mountains would first be covered with this great blanket of gray mist and water, and then, as if some great hand would roll the blanket eastward, the sun would flood the mountain sides and valleys with a bright, glistening light. The highway looked like a broad gray ribbon with green fringes of lace on either side with great borders of mountain laurel and various flowers beyond that.

We all enjoyed our trip to Mt. Mitchell, the highest peak east of the Rockies.

Care Tips for Cut Flowers

Lack of moisture is, of course, the main cause of wilting flowers. Flowers are thirsty. They drink through their stems and by absorbing humidity from the atmosphere. To satisfy your flowers' tremendous appetite for water, follow these suggestions.

1. Cut small pieces off the bottom of each stem, at a slant, as soon as you get the flowers. Dryness causes the stems to close so the flowers can't sip water.

2. If possible, let the flowers be saturated with moisture before arranging them in a vase. To do this, mist the entire bunch lightly with water and wrap it in moisture-proof cellophane (the kind you use for frozen foods). Close the edges of the package, then float it in a dishpan of warm water. The cellophane will hold the humidity in the space directly around the flowers so the entire flower is moistened thoroughly.

3. When you're ready to arrange the flowers, be sure the vase is perfectly clean. Fill it with cool water and use one of the inexpensive commercial preservatives you can buy from your florist. These chemical preparations reduce bacterial action in the water which causes the stems to close. If you don't use them, change the water and clip the stems every day.

4. Give your flowers a "refresher course" at night, when nobody will be awake to see them anyway. Move the vase to a cool room—preferably a cool, damp section of the cellar. If your whole house or apartment is hot, remove the flowers from their vase, wrap them in cellophane, and put the bundle in your refrigerator overnight.

5. Always keep the flowers away from drafts and direct sunlight.

Miss Nancy Gail Wofford

We like to visit with you Gail,
And see your friendly smile,
And too your beautiful brunette
Hair... you always keep in style.
We like your conversation, you
Are fine and jolly too... and that
Is why your many friends enjoy
Being with you... if only we could
Be like you... and smile through
All our trials... we'd make the World much brighter... and vanish
Those ugly styles... we'd form a
Perfect Rain-bow bright... across
The Heavens too... and there we'd
Place a lovely smile... like the
One that dwells with you.
Your Cooleemee Friends,
By Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Parker

Dwiggins-Spry Wedding

Miss Peggy Joan Spry, daughter of Mrs. Ola Spry Crofts of Mocksville, Route 4, recently became the bride of Lester Franklin Dwiggins of Mocksville in an afternoon ceremony at Concord Methodist Church in Davie County.

The Rev. G. W. Fink performed the double ring ceremony and Sammy Cope, pianist, and J. N. Tutterow, soloist, provided wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Spry. Margaret Beek was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Lakey, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. William Spry, the bride's sister-in-law. Miss Carol Crofts, the bride's half-sister, was junior attendant.

Ralph Daniels of Mocksville was best man. Ushers were Hayden Benson, cousin of the bride, and Arnold Spry.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Cooleemee High School. Mr. Dwiggins attended Mocksville High School and is now in business with his father. Mrs. Dwiggins' mother, Mrs. Ola Spry Crofts, is an employee of the Warp Room.

Your Reporters Say: PAYROLL OFFICE

Mattie Sue spent a recent weekend with her son, Larry, at Parris Island, S. C., where he is taking his basic training in the U. S. Marine Corps. She was accompanied by her other sons, Joe and Delano; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville McCullough and Miss Betty Jean Hamilton.

Jean Hartzog came to work one morning recently all smiles. The reason? A diamond, third finger, left hand. The lucky man is Charles Poplin of Albemarle. Their plans for the future are indefinite at the moment.

Bessie has her daughter-in-law and grand-daughter staying with her for awhile. They expect to be here until sometime in October.

The Payroll Office presented Jean Hartzog with two beautiful lamps as a wedding gift and going-away present.

Congratulations to our manager, J. L. James, who was elected to the position of First Vice President of the Southern Textile Association. The annual meeting of the STA was held at Blowing Rock on June 19-20.

Recent guests of the J. O. Moody's were Mr. and Mrs. "Cotton" Moody and family of Wright-Patterson Airbase, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moody of Chapel Hill, and Mr. Moody's sister, Mrs. Eula Dail and her daughter, Mrs. Tom Finch and son "Hank" of Suffolk, Virginia.

Mr. M. A. Carpenter attended the annual meeting of the Southern Textile Association which was held at Blowing Rock.

Why is Betty Shockley walking on air these days? Hmmm! Could it be that a fellow by the name of "Bill" is on his way home from overseas?

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Moody attended graduation exercises at the University of North Carolina. Jack Owen Moody, Jr., was a member of the graduating class.

Our deepest sympathy to friends and relatives of Mr. A. D. Walters who passed away on June 20. Mr. Walters was a Storehouse employee.

Mrs. Rosie Marlowe of Marion, N. C., recently spent some time with her nephew, Jimmy Hinkle.

For any extra carpenter work, see James R. Jordan—Standards Department—it only took Jimmy four weeks to put a roof on a 2 x 4 building—that is with the help of his wife! My, but aren't we speedy!!
