

THOMASVILLE

THOMASVILLE BUSINESSMAN SENTENCED

Greensboro - An official of a Thomasville firm was placed on probation today (6-11) by a federal judge in Greensboro for failure to make required deposits of employee withholding taxes in a federal trust account.

Roy Clifton Eddinger, 47, president and treasurer of Superette Carving Co., Inc., was sentenced to four years probation after pleading guilty to charges that he failed to make required deposits of social security and income taxes withheld from employees' wages for the period July 17, 1972 through March 2, 1973.

A special condition of probation directed Eddinger to pay the withholding taxes due by October 1, 1973. In addition, he must pay all business and personal taxes due the government during the probationary period.

Set Goals And Stop Begging

Jesse Jackson, nationally known organizer of PUSH (People United to Save Humanity), was in this city last week, preaching the gospel of self-help and the necessity for the nation's Black citizens to set goals, conserve their strength, and stop being the laughing stock of the community as we ask others to do for us what we ought to be doing for ourselves. "Until we adopt that posture," Jackson said, "we will continue to be laughing stock of the community."

There was nothing unusual in his advice. We have heard it before. Nevertheless, until we show signs of accepting that advice to a greater extent than is now discernible, Jackson and other far-sighted leaders will have to continue to dwell on the need for self-help.

In the city so soon after the unfortunate Holmesburg murders, Jackson was forthright in advising his hearers to stop making excuses for the senseless murders committed by Blacks and in urging the Black community to stop making excuses and apologizing for Black crime.

Jackson warned that there is no way to get something worthwhile for nothing and that Blacks must make up their minds to WORK for what they need.

There was nothing new in this advice. It has been given before. Coming, however, from a national figure, it carries more weight than would normally be the case.

Insect Bites, Poison Ivy, Heat...

Relief of Summer Pains

HEALTH FEATURE

What does summertime bring to your mind? Lying at the pool or beach? Hiking the mountains? Exploring the wilderness? Camping out? Sightseeing adventures? -

Any one of these or your own private summertime hopc can live up to your dreams as long as you avoid those well-known vacation spoilers: sunburn, insect bites, heat exhaustion, poison ivy.

ARMED with a few simple precautionary measures, some common sense, and a knowledge of how to cope with each, you can keep them from sabotaging your family's holiday. Here are some ways Public Health Service experts in HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration, suggest for coping.

1. INSECT BITES are likely to be a greater threat with bans on widespread use of insecticides. Protective clothing and repellents are the best preventives if you're likely to be exposed. Some insects are merely nuisances.

Baking soda compresses and ice usually suffice to relieve the discomfort after making sure the stinger is out. Ticks, black widow and brown recluse spiders present a more serious threat of severe, though rarely fatal, illness.

In TICK-INFESTED areas, wear long sleeves and tight pants, then check the body carefully and often. Ticks not yet attached should be brushed off and killed. Pull attached ticks away gently so the head and mouth won't remain imbedded. Use tweezers, or in stubborn cases try a hot knife blade or pin, nail polish or iodine. The danger from ticks is Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever (actually more prevalent in the Southeast now).

THE TWO POISONOUS SPIDERS/black widow with red hourglass marking on its abdomen and the brown recluse with a violin-shaped marking on its back are unlikely to bite unless they have been disturbed in their hiding places—such as window sills, foundation cracks, garden debris, etc. Work gloves, garden insect sprays and a watchful eye when doing yardwork are the best preventives; IF YOU ARE BITTEN, CONSULT A PHYSICIAN AT ONCE.

(2) HEAT EXHAUSTION is a threat if you overexert on a hot and humid day. Dress in light porous, loose-fitting clothing and step up your salt intake at such times. In the event of mild heat exhaustion (tired, headache, nausea) or if it's severe (perspiration, weakness, pale and clammy skin with possible vomiting and leg or arm cramps), the treatment is the same. Lie in a cool place and take cool salted water (a teaspoon per quart).

More rare is HEAT STROKE—serious condition marked by high fever and hot, dry skin. The fever should be reduced rapidly by sponging with water or alcohol.

(3) SUNBURN can be avoided by common sense—building up gradually those first days at the pool or beach. Arm yourself with a good sun lotion or cream. Toddlers and anyone with sensitive skin need extra protection from the searing rays.

If you so get a burn, cool or tepid baths with colloidal oatmeal will give some relief as will topical local anesthetics such as Solarcaine. A serious burn, of course, needs medical attention.

(4) POISON IVY with its clusters of three shiny leaves, is easy to recognize. Teach your children to recognize it—and poison oak and sumac, too.

If you have been exposed, wash promptly (preferably with soap and water to remove the oily substance that causes the trouble. Everything exposed—clothing, pets, tools—should be washed, too, but handle them cautiously until they've been scrubbed. If a rash develops, simple home remedies will relieve the discomfort until it clears up, but if the reaction is severe, have your doctor treat it. Cool or tepid baths and showers will help, but avoid soap and use cornstarch or colloidal oatmeal in the bath water.

Topical local anesthetics such as Solarcaine will give relief, and calamine lotion will dry the blisters and oozing. REMEMBER THAT THE BLISTER FLUID WON'T SPREAD THE RASH—ONLY THE ORIGINAL PLANT SECRETION. So if it spreads, relauder anything that may be tainted—clothing, sheets, towels.

FBI arrests bus driver, rental chief

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — A former public housing project manager and a city bus driver have been arrested and charged in connection with two bank robberies, according to FBI spokesmen.

Fancy English Jr., 30, is being held under $75,000 bond for the armed robbery of two banks in which hostages were taken. He was arrested at a home where a woman and four children lived and were being held hostage. FBI agents said they pulled him out of a bed, which he had ducked into.

They announced that Edward Junior Clark, 34, had been arrested and charged with driving the getaway car for English in one robbery and as an accessory to the other. He also was being held under $75,000 bond.

DURHAM, N.C. — The National Teacher Examination will be administered on July 21, 1973 at North Carolina Central University.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A and T State University has begun a new cooperative education program, in which the Department of Agriculture will provide summer work experience for students in the university's School of Agriculture. According to Talmadge Brewer, chairman of the Department of Animal Science, and director of the new program, the 11 students have taken assignments at USDA facilities throughout the nation.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — Dr. Grady Davis, a Fayetteville State University professor of education and psychology has been named a Danforth Associate. Davis has been a member of the ESU faculty since 1965 and is pastor of Union Baptist Church.

Unionists Urge Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Coalition of Black Trade Unionists has urged Congress to seize control of the wage and price control program "to erase inequities which are hobbling American workers."

The CBTU Steering Committee said the White House was unresponsive to the needs of low and middle-income Americans, whose wages are being held down by the 5.5 per cent wage control guidelines while wholesale prices and food costs are soaring.

Bill Lucy, a steering committee member, said the coalition "will be calling on the Congress to seize control of the wage and price control program and try to restore a measure of equity to the standards set for bringing inflation under control."

In a joint statement, the moment," he said. In a joint statement, the committee said the Nixon Administration "appears to be paralyzed by the Watergate crisis, and unable or unwilling to cope with the economic situation."

City Lake

Beginning Saturday, June 16th, 1973, each non-resident of High Point will be charged a fifty cent ($0.50) fee at City Lake Park. This system is being established in accordance with a recent city ordinance and is to insure that High Point residents get first choice of Park Facilities. High Point residents will not be charged for admission to the Park.

All persons walking or riding are requested to stop at the new "Information Center" at the main entrance to the Park. Non-residents will be charged fifty cents ($0.50) each, and will be issued a dated ticket, good for one day at the Park.

All residents of High Point who display a city tag on their car, or who have identification showing a current High Point address, will be given free entry to the Park. If residents or their children don't have identification, the Parks and Recreation Department will issue an identification card. Residents should apply for cards at the Park office at 221 Nathan Hunt Drive, near the Blair Park Golf Course.
