It's attention to detail that's the mark of craftsmanship

It's attention to detail that's the mark of craftsmanship. Littlethings. Like the way nails are angled, the way boards are joined -- things that, ignored, can turn a beautifully built home into a beautifully built headache. Today, too often the details are ignored. That's why, at Ervin, we do the best we can to keep crafts-manship alive and well. We continually try to improve our already high standards -- making refinements in design, spec-ifications, and perfecting new construction methods. Our system of checks and approvals carry all the way through to the moment you open your door. And if there's ever a prob-lem, we have a warranty program ready to correct it. lem, we have a warranty program ready to correct it

Whether building homes, apartments or condominiums, now that if the little things aren't right, the big things won't be right either to though the Ervin Company offers one of the widest selections in the Southeast, no matter what price, style and location matches the way you live, you'll always know the way we put it together. The right way. A nail at a time.
