high scoring collegiate career at Utah State. Marvin averaged 7.7 points and 4.3 rebounds in 68 games and 15.4 average minutes. It was last season in the Rockets' surge to a contender's status that the slender third-year pro came into his own.

Upping his shooting percentage from his rookie 41% to 46%, Roberts threw in 12.3 points per game in 77 contests. He added an even five bounds per contest. These figures are even more impressive in just 25 average minutes per game.

Carolina Cougar guard, Mack Calvin, has been named "1973 Athlete of the Year" in Long Beach, California by that city's Century Club.

The 26-year old three-time ABA All-Star was honored at the Century Club's Annual Sports Awards Banquet at Long Beach's Lafayette Hotel on January 24th.

"I'm thrilled," beamed Calvin when informed of and it's an honor just to be Association official."

Among the previous winners were Bob Lemon, 1957; Ben Agajanian, 1960; Johnny Olszewski, 1962; Billie Jean Moffitt King and Willie Brown, 1963; Ron Fairly, 1965; Jack Snow, 1966; Earl McCul-louch, 1967; Gene Washington, 1968; and Ed Ratleff, 1972.

In winning this year's award, Mack beat out baseballers Bob Bailey, Bobby Grich, and Jeff Burroughs, and golfer Laura Baugh.

Veteran Cougar center Mike Lewis, sidelined since November 10, 1972, with a reptured achilles tendon and subsequent recovery, has been making great strides of late and is now pointing towards early February as a return to the
