

THE TRIBUNAL AID

Serving Guilford, Forsyth, Davidson and Randolph Counties

VOLUME 1, NO. 49

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1974

15 CENTS PER COPY $3.00 PER YEAR

EBONY EDITOR VISITS WSSU FOR TALK

Alex Poinsett

WINSTON-SALEM—Winston-Salem State University last week observed "Honors Day" with an awards day program, luncheon, and banquet on the university campus. The purpose of "Honors Day" was to pay tribute to those students who have earned a semester average of "B" or better, to honor those with the highest cumulative averages in their class, and to honor those with the highest average in their major.

Speaker for the awards program which was held in Whitaker gymnasium was Alex Poinsett, senior editor of EBONY magazine in Chicago.

Poinsett in his remarks to a crowd of about 400 emphasized the availability of job opportunities for blacks. In his presentation Poinsett stated that blacks have infiltrated all aspects of the job market and that white corporations are active in their recruitment of blacks. He cited the fact that the number of black white collar workers has increased from 23% in 1967 to 30% in 1973 and that there is a growing demand for black talent in scientific research and the health services area.

One drawback, Poinsett pointed out with respect to blacks and the utilization of their talents, was that blacks fail to move into fields where there are the greatest demands. Poinsett alluded to the fact that as far as job opportunities go the demand appears greatest in the service related areas.

Poinsett summarized his presentation by stating that there are no limitations as to how far one can go because jobs are available.

Following the speaker's address plaques were presented to students with the highest cumulative average in their respective classes and to those who had the highest cumulative average by department.

Phyllis M. Harris, a senior nursing major from Morrisville had the highest cumulative average in her class and in nursing. Others with the highest cumulative average by class were Sandra Curry, a junior from Raleigh, Carrie Holmes, a sophomore from Harrels and Emma Andrews from Williamston, Donna C. McMoore, Charlotte, and Mrs. Acquilla Rousseau, Winston-Salem, freshmen.

Others honored by department were art, Mrs. Arcenia Davis and Mrs. Rebecca Shepherd; business administration, Valeria G. Price, business education, Catherine Pettie; early childhood education, Fran S. Bates, intermediate education, Janet T. Minta; English and foreign languages, Mrs. Eleanor S. Bond, math, Patricia A. Smith, music, Lydia L. Lowery, health and physical education, Ernest Richmond; history, Mrs. Bessie F. Johnson; political science, Willie R. Williams; sociology, Marva D. Morgan, and biology, William Ardrey.

Other activities held as a part of the "Honors Day" observance were a luncheon in honor of Alex Poinsett, and a banquet for the honors students. Guest speaker for the banquet was Curtis Palmer, a recent alumnus who is presently employed by the IBM corporation.

Among the 500 persons attending the Southern Regional Convention of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity in Greensboro recently were (left to right) Mrs. Herman Landers and Mrs. M. G. Miles, both of Tallahassee, Fla.; and Leonard C. Johnson, Charlotte, N.C. Johnson is assistant vice president of the region. [Dick Moore Photo]

Alphas Stage Southern Meeting In Greensboro

GREENSBORO -- "The reinstatement of human justice, human freedom and human dignity as a goal in American society," is a must for the survival of this nation, Ozell Sutton said here in the keynote address of the annual convention of the Southern Regional convention of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Sutton, who directs the U.S. Justice Department's community relations service for the Southeast Region, challenged the more than 350 and their families attending the successful convention. "It's not governments or fraternities that count," said Sutton, "but people. All of those other things should serve the welfare of the people."

Sutton told his audience that one worthy goal needs to be "to increase black representation on policy-making bodies."

"The leadership in the back room is where we need to be," he added, "because the decisions are made there."

Sutton also urged the Alphas to "adopt a policy of advocacy for the poor and deprived. We must plead their case before the courts, because we as college trained persons, we are better prepared than they."

Sounding somewhat of a different note to the convention was Dr. Herman Smith, director of the Office for the Advancement of Public Negro Colleges in Atlanta and director of the Alpha Phi Alpha Education Foundation.

Smith deplored the shortage of black Ph. D.'s in the nation and also the shortage of trained blacks in many of the professions.

"Why is this that of a minority of 15 percent of the population, we hold only one percent of the Ph. D. degrees?" asked Smith. "I've seen nothing to suggest improvement," said Smith, "and the fraternity has a role to play in all of this."

He said that only 3,000 of the 130,000 pharmacists in the nation are black and 6,000 of the 300,000 physicians in the nation are blacks.

Smith said that now is the time for a black group to develop an endowed fund and for the Alphas to expand their program of financial support to brothers.

Recycling Session Set This Friday

HIGH POINT - A recycling session for newspaper, aluminum cans and glass will be held on May 3 at 4 p.m. through 7:30 p.m. at the following locations:

Roses, Eckerd's at Zayre's, Eckerd's at College Village, Mann's #1, Mann's #6, and Mann's at Jamestown.

Recycling stations will be manned by High Point Youth Council members.

WSSU Chaplain Named Fellow

WINSTON-SALEM—Rev. Henry S. Lewis, Jr., chaplain at Winston-Salem State University is one of nineteen persons who was chosen to be a recipient of the 1974-75 Underwood Fellowships offered by the Danforth Foundation. These Fellowships, which are open to faculty, administrators, parish clergy and campus ministers are named in honor of the late Dr. Kenneth W. Underwood, Director of the Danforth Study of Campus Ministries, and Professor at Wesleyan University and Yale University.

The Underwood Fellow-

WHAT'S INSIDE
Editorials
Entertainment
Features
Sports

Lexington Seniors Make Formal Debut

LEXINGTON - Eight high school seniors made their formal debuts at the Seventh Annual Debutante Cotillion at the Lexington Municipal Country Club Friday, April 26.

Harriet Witherspoon of Lexington was crowned Queen and Joyce Howell of Mocksville and Kaetta Payne of Thomasville were first and second runnersup, respectively.

Carolice Miller, the 1973 Queen, crowned Miss Witherspoon.

The following seniors made their debuts:

Rose Dalton, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dalton; Marilyn Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Capers Davis; Allana Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson.

Joyce Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewie Howell; Kaetta Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Payne; Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith; and Harriet Witherspoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Witherspoon, Sr.

Introducing to Society at the proper time and in the proper manner eligible young ladies in the Davidson County area is the purpose of the Debutante Ball.

The Leisureette Civic and Social Club through the Debutante Ball and other activities to "raise funds for scholarships to help worthy young ladies meet part of their financial obligations while enrolled in higher institutions of higher education."

Mrs. Beuna Watkins is president of the club.

Children To Display Art Work

HIGH POINT - Posters and paintings by High Point school children on the theme, "There's Something for Everybody at the Library," will be displayed as a group in the High Point Public Library community room this week.

The winning works, which were shown on television this past week, selected by two High Point artist judges, are also included in the group display in the community room.

Sickle Cell Testing Clinic Scheduled

HIGH POINT - Have you neglected to be tested for Sickle Cell Disease?? If the answer is yes, then the following announcement is for you.

The Sickle Cell Outreach and Education Project funded by Model Cities and sponsored by the High Point Business and Professional Men's Club, is holding a special testing clinic at the Clara Cox Recreation Center, Friday, May 3, 1974, 5pm-7pm, and Saturday, May 4, 1974, from 1 pm - 6 pm.

All residents of High Point are encouraged and invited to attend. The test is free, simple and almost painless.

and libraries in the area and the pediatric ward of North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill.

Surviving other than the parents are brothers, Joseph, Robert and Martin of the home; sisters, Mary and Margaret of the home; and his maternal grandfather, William Clark of Wilson.

In lieu of flowers at the funeral service, the family had requested that memorial gifts be made to the Uwharrie Council of the Boy Scouts of America or to Phillip Carter in care of Scholarship Memorial the Immaculate Heart of Mary School; or to The Heart Fund, Chapel Hill, N.C.

noon. He had a history of near trouble and was dead on arrival at the hospital. The Mass of the Resurrection was offered Monday at 11 a.m. at Christ the King Catholic Church where Phillip was a parishoner and an altar boy. Burial was in Carolina Biblical Gardens.

Phillip attended Immaculate Heart of Mary School where he was a member of the Library Club, School Safety Patrol, Student Council Representative from the eighth grade, and a member of Boy Scout Troop 26.

During the past several years, Phillip's art works have been exhibited at Sunday in the Park, schools

VIVACIOUS VICKI NESBITT flashes her best form as she prepares for the summer swim season. The Fayetteville State University sophomore coed is majoring in speech and wants to work with handicapped children after graduation. (FSU Photo by John B. Henderson)

PHILLIP CARTER

"We must give our children a sense of pride in being black. The glory of our past and the dignity of our present must lead the way to the power of our future."

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL