ASHBORO

Since last September, more than 200,000 visitors have visited the Zoological Park according to park personnel. Zoo Director Williams Roff has stated that, thus far, over 15,000 students are scheduled to visit the zoo on weekdays from March through May.

Presently the zoo contains 100 different animals which represent 45 different species. Other animals will be available at the zoo when more permanent facilities are erected.

Dr. Craid Phillips, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been instructed to get a re-evaluation of a public kindergarten report submitted to the State Board of Education. Board chairman, Dallas Herring first questioned the figures of Dr. Phillips and he was later supported by two other board members.

Dr. Phillips has been accused of presenting a false report to make his office look good, according to Herring. The analysis of data fed into the UNC-Chapel Hill computer should support or refute Herring's charges. Time will tell.

Residents of the rural areas of Guilford County made it explicitly clear that they wanted a voice in selecting members to serve on the County School Board. More specifically, the County's legislative delegation was told that school board members should be elected by voters living within their respective school district.

GREENSBORO

Guilford County Department of Social Services board members were given the opportunity last Wednesday night to review the departments' proposed budget for fiscal year 1975. The presentation to the board was made by C. Wayne Metz, the departments director and Robert E. Dougherty, the accountant.

The proposed operating budget for fiscal year 1975 is $25,670,000. Of this amount, $5,064,000 is to be requested for county funds. The difference, is to come from state and federal sources.

In other business, the board was petitioned by social workers to invoke a 30-day residency requirement for persons applying for General Assistance (GA). The request was made because social workers say that some people go from county to county seeking aid from Department of Social Services. It was further stated that some agencies in surrounding counties actively send people to Guilford County to seek aid. Board chairman, Forrest Campbell stated that he could not support the petition because there are those who come from Guilford County to find employment and it would be difficult to find an equitable means to work out the problem.

HIGH POINT

Members of the High Point City Council have been encouraged by Frank Lamberth to accompany local policemen while they (policemen) are making their nightly rounds. Council-woman Rachel Gray was the first member of the council to ride with a policeman.

One of the purposes of riding with policemen is for council to see what kinds of things go on in the city at night, especially on the weekend around the taverns. This is particularly true as it applies to the activities of pre-teens and teenagers in the city.

North Carolina superintendent of public instruction, Dr. A. Craig Phillips told school administrators board members, and others that they must be increasingly conscious of the amount of energy required to run a school when planning for the construction of a new one.

The base budget for the Department of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education is $1.1 billion. Of this amount, $585 million will be for new school projects with $225 million of the $585 million used for cost of living salary increases for teachers.

Bennett Students Receive Special Honors

GREENSBORO --Bennett College for Women recently held its annual Recognition Chapel Service.

Recipients of the Faculty Scholarships Awards of $300 were Vicky Jones, Laurinburg, N.C., Division of Humanities; Bertha Scarborough, Lynchburg, S.C.; Division of Sciences; and Esther Canty, Sumter, S.C., Division of Social Sciences. These scholarships are awarded to a rising junior and senior in each of the three Divisions of Instruction who have maintained a high academic average and demonstrated satisfactory personal-social growth.

Olivia Penn, a freshman from Madison, N.C., received the Cressie Thomas Havens Scholarship for having maintained the highest academic average in the freshman and sophomore class.

Thorna Humphries, a sophomore from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, received the Class of 1921 Prize for excellence in science.

The recipient of the Belle Tobias Scholarship was Mallika Maniam, a freshman from Malaysia. The award is given to the freshman who is considered to have made the most outstanding academic record during the year. Mallika is a straight-A student.

Corbett, Unveiled

GREENSBORO - Ellis Corbett wasn't at the dedication, but you got the feeling that he somehow had a hand in seeing that his big day came off so well.

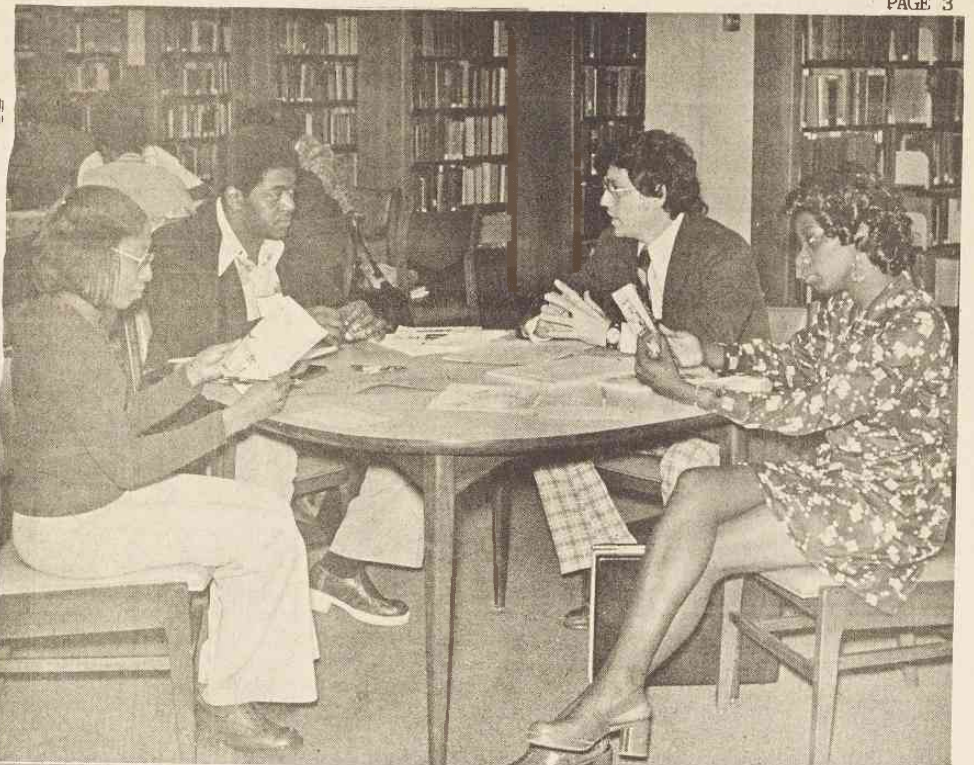

The sunshine was just right and the throng of A&T State University students, faculty members, politicians and members of his national fraternity gathered beneath two stately pine trees on the campus, would certainly have delighted him.

At any rate, the unveiling of a bust of Corbett by the Omega Psi Phi fraternity climaxed a two-day memorial period for their former national president.

Sculpted by local artist, Ogden Deal, the likeness was unveiled by Corbett's daughter, Mrs. Thomasine Gant of Greensboro, and received for the university by Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, chancellor of A&T.

"Ellis enjoyed life and he expected all men to enjoy life," said Chicago Judge, Marion W. Garnett, who now heads the 40,000-member national fraternity. "He never tried to be great and that's what made him great."

Dowdy called Corbett, for 20 years public relations director at A&T, "an advisor and maker of college presidents."
