will not be carried into the 21st century.

She accused President Ford of being shortsighted in his great concern for the Vietnam refugees rather than demonstrating that concern for the plight of the nation's elderly, black and the poor. These accusations were leveled also against Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Commission, and William Simon, chairman of the Federal Energy Administration. She stated that these men are telling this country that they can't afford to feed the hungry or find jobs for the unemployed.

Miss Payne, in urging a special convocation, added that leaders of the United Negro College Fund, the National Urban League, and other such organizations be invited to participate in the nationwide convocation "to help offer solutions to nagging problems."

Among those graduating with honors were North Carolina's, Linda Sprueil (3.66), Business, Summerfield; Deborah Herbin, Reidsville; Clorinda Lee, Mt. Olive; Bonita Chavis, McLeansville; Lila Martin, Rockingham; and Glenda Sprueil Simmons, Greensboro.

Highlighting this year's exercise were two firsts in the history of the college. Three of the graduates were the first Bennett students to be commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Air Force. They were Yardley Nelson, Buffalo, N.Y.; Shirley Green, Trenton, N.J.; and Dyora Thomas, Greensboro, N.C.

The second special event was the awarding of the first Bachelor of Arts and Sciences Degree in Interdisciplinary Studies to twenty students who have been engaging in non-traditional academic study across divisional lines. The program is designed to allow the students to design their own major and emphasizes independent study. They also participate in a year of off-campus study or work.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. How has the standard deduction been changed in the new tax law recently signed by President Ford?

A. First, the minimum standard deduction (low income allowance) has increased from $1,300 per return ($650 for married people filing separately) to $1,900 on a joint return or for a surviving spouse, to $1,600 for single people and to $950 for married people filing separately. Second, the maximum standard deduction has increased from 15 percent of adjusted gross income (AGI) with a maximum of $2,000, or $1,000 for a married person filing separately, to 16 percent of AGI with a maximum of $2,600 on a joint return or for a surviving spouse, $2,300 for a single person and $1,300 for married persons filing separately. These changes are in effect only for taxable years ending after December 31, 1974, and before January 1, 1976. Thus for most taxpayers the changes affect calendar year 1975 only.

Q. How does the new tax law affect deductions for child care expenses?

A. The section of the new tax law which affects employment-related child and dependent care expenses applies to taxable years beginning after March 29, 1975. Thus, for calendar year taxpayers, this change will be effective starting with calendar year 1976. The maximum deduction is still $400 a month for child care expenses. However, the maximum adjusted gross income (AGI) you may earn and still qualify for the maximum deduction has been increased from $18,000 per year to $35,000 per year. If your AGI exceeds $35,000 per year, your otherwise allowable expenses for child care must be reduced by half the AGI over $35,000. Therefore, if your AGI is $44,600 or more per year you will not be able to deduct any employment-related expenses for child and dependent care.

Q. When will the new Federal withholding tax tables begin to affect my paycheck?

A. The new withholding tables reflecting standard deduction changes, personal exemption tax credit and earned income credit take effect on May 1, 1975. However, many employers may find it difficult to compute payroll checks with the new tables so quickly. The result is that a little more in Federal taxes may be taken out of your paycheck under the old tables until your employer can begin using the new withholding rates. This could mean you may get a little more back in any refund due you from 1975 Federal income taxes.

mean apart. In South Africa they fence the Blacks in," he explained.

"Or, you could use the Marcus Garvey solution which means 'get on the boat and go back to Africa'. But cultural problems will be there. Could you imagine a Detroit pimp in his bad pimpmobile stopping for a herd of elephants?" he asked.

The second choice that Alexander gave the audience was to integrate with the system.

"Integration can be divided into two parts. You can either become part of what is or you can become a change agent."
