ASK ME ABOUT NATURE

by Doris B. Kwasikpui

Dear Mrs. K

You have answered many questions concerning birds but so far no one has asked you a question about my former dean of the School favorite bird, the robin. How would you describe the voice of the robin?

Mrs. J.B. Kent

Dear Mrs. Kent: The robin's voice sounds like "cherri-ly, cheeri-ly".

Dear Mrs. K:

Is it true that seeds from Opium Poppy are sold as the University of Chicago, Niel Armstrong, director of State University. bird food? Why is this allowed.

A Concerned Parent

Dear Concerned Parent:

The seeds from the Opium Poppy (Papaver somniferum) are completely free of the powerful drug, opium. Only the milky sap from the unripe capsule of the Opium Poppy contains the narcotic called opium.

Dear Mrs. K:

How did the archer fish get its name?

Windy

Dear Windy

The archer fish got its name because it captures insects by shooting a stream of water at them with the accuracy of a bowman. It knocks the insects off the leaves into the water and eats them.

Dear Mrs. K:

My dog got his face full of quills from a porcupine. How did the porcupine shoot quills into my dog? Miss Dorothy Spann

The porcupine slapped its tail to provide the pressure for forcing the quills into the flesh of your dog.

Dear Mrs. K:

How do beavers warn others that danger is near? Leydon

Dear Leydon:

A beaver uses its tail as warning device by slapping it against the water to warn the other beavers that an intruder is near.

Dear Mrs. K:
