

Star Margaret Tynes To Highlight A&T Arts Series

GREENSBORO—A concert by Greensboro's own Margaret Tynes, soprano with the Metropolitan Opera, will highlight the 1975-76 Lyceum and Art Series at A&T State University.

Miss Tynes, an A&T graduate, will climax the series with an appearance next March 1st at 8 p.m., in the Richard B. Harrison Auditorium.

The initial performance in the series will be readings by dramatic monologist, Robert Earl Jones on Monday at 8 p.m.

The series will also include a concert by Jessy Dixon and the Dixon Singers on November 10 and a concert by the internationally known Rod Rodgers Dance Company on March 22-27.

The art exhibits will include the North Carolina Art Society Annual Traveling Exhibit, November 16 - December 16; Ben Shann's Afro-American Experience, January 12 - 31; the Amistad II and Chuck Davis Dance Company, February 8 - March 7; and the John Biggers Exhibit, March 15 - April 16.

Although born in Virginia, Miss Tynes moved to Greensboro when her father accepted the pastorate of the Providence Baptist Church. After finishing A&T, she received a master's degree from Columbia University and studied at the Julliard School.

Miss Tynes has concertized throughout the United States and she has sung under the batons of the world's foremost conductors.

She currently makes her home in Milan, Italy, with her Czech-born designer, Hans von Klier.

Jones is the father of the noted black actor, James Earl Jones. The elder Jones was contemporary and personal friend of the late Langston Hughes. His readings and poetry will be entitled "The Black Man's Journey to Freedom."

Jessy Dixon has been called one of the most imaginative young musicians in the field of gospel music. A noted singer, arranger and pianist and organist, Dixon formerly was accompanist for the late Mahalia Jackson and jazz singer Marion Williams.

The Rod Rodgers dance Troupe features abstract styles, dance drama, jazz and modern works done to the music of popular arts artists.

In addition to directing his own company, Rodgers has directed the "Black Cowboys" and choreographed several productions for national television. He is also widely known as a master teacher and lecturer.
