

A RIDDLE IN RHYMES

by
Rev. T.M. Walker

WHAT AM I?

I am an institution, but not a school or church:
Neither am I a dwelling house.
Physical persecution sends many victims in search
Of pain I bring about.

Within me those of skill practice their trade
Under rules with which they comply.
With a strong will workers come to the aid
Of some whose life would slip by.

WHAT AM I?

By choice and by strenght of their own,
There are some who report to me.
Some rejoice when I let them go home
Because ther is where they feel free.

Those brought to me in a helpless state
Are not brought to me to cry.
They ought to see that if they are not late
I can help them live and not die.

WHAT AM I?

Those I aid dread to receive my service,
But they are glad that I exist.
Some are afraid to the point of gettin' nervous
As soon as they get on my list.

But they need not fear coming into my enclosure
to negatives that bring tears to the eye.

WHAT AM I?

The faithful within me busily walk my "sors
In garments of spotless white,
Hasting to see if behind some closed doors
There is a job needing to be done right.

Angels of mercy scurry about my hall ways
Observing with a sympTHEIC EYE,
Those who seem thirsty for the joyous rays
Of sunshine that comes with a smile.

WHAT AM I?

SALISBURY Johnny Miller, Livingstone's All-America guard, received the football team's most valuable player award at the college's annual athletic banquet Friday night.

Miller was named to the Associated Press College Division and Black Sports All-America Squad. He was selected on the All-CIAA squad.

Miller also received the award as the defensive lineman of the year. Back Williams Scales received two awards as the football player and senior squad member with the highest academic average.

Other special awards went to Larry Lee, most unselfish; Calvin Eley, offensive back of the year; Floyd Pittman, offensive rookie of the year; James Baker, defensive player of the year; Lawrence McDuffie, defensive back of the year; Linwood Howard, offensive lineman of the year; James Jackson, most improved; and co-captains Randy Nichols, David Walker and George Odom. Miller, Lee and Howard recognized as members of the All-CIAA squad.

Henry Smith, who has qualified for the NAIA track and field meet at Arkadelphia, Ark., May 20-22 along with William Williams, received three track awards.

Smith was named the best sprinter, member of the best relay (440) team most valuable trackman.

Williams, who will compete in the NAIA jumping events, was honored as the best field performer. Johnny Stoutamire received the best middle distance runner. Miller and Charles Charleston also received awards for best field men.

Williams also was included on the relay unit along with Thomas Barclay, Joe Branson and Robert Chiles.

Rodney Hampton, who has earned a spot in the Olympic trials at Cleveland, Ohio this week, was honored as the most outstanding wrestler. Clifford Barnette received three wrestling awards as the most improved, most dedicated and leadership. The rookie award went to Billy Roseboro.

Baxter Holman, head football and track coach, was master of ceremonies. Coaches awards went to Holman, Andrew Littlejohn Fletcher Jones, Richard Johnson, and Gilbert Johnson.

Members of the athletic teams were recognized, and monograms, plaques and jackets were presented to players, managers and statisticians.

Barber-Scotia Gets Grants For Summer Camp

Barber-Scotia College has received a grant from the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation to establish a six week summer day camp for mentally retarded children. This program is known as the Special Olympics, Inc.

The Kennedy Foundation's Special Olympics program grant is restricted to day camps serving American minorities with mental handicaps. The Foundation will have nineteen such day camps throughout the United States this summer.

Willie Washington, Physical Education Instructor at Barber-Scotia College will be the program director.

Washington had extensive experience in training and teaching the physical handicapped and people with mental retardation.

Black US Labor Department Worker Doubles As Actress

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "I've met President Ford, the Vice President and the Secretary of Labor," says Corlis Lasley, a black U.S. Department of Labor employee.

Lasley, a new employee of the department, finds her spare time avocation exciting, too. She doubles as an actress and has appeared in a Washington, D.C., production of the play, Raisin In The Sun.

A supervisor in the mail room in the new Department of Labor Building, Ms. Lasley is responsible for coordinating four daily mail runs in the big new structure at 3rd St. and Constitution Ave., N.W.

Ms. Lasley also conducts surveys to determine the efficiency of the operation.

"We do a number of things here: reviewing and dispatching incoming and outgoing mail, updating lists of personnel (who have moved), and ensuring that mail is placed in the proper drop," she explains.

Soon after coming to work for the Labor Department, Ms. Lasley got to meet and shake hands with President Ford, Vice President Rockefeller, and Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery, Jr. at the latter's swearing-in-ceremony at the White House.

Concerning her acting, Ms. Lasley says:

"I've always wanted to be an actress, and I just loved working in Raisin In The Sun. She played the role of Lena Younger in the current production at the Back Alley Theater in Washington.

Having recently graduated from Hampton Institute in Virginia, Ms. Lasley finds acting "a real challenge" and her job at the Labor Department a good opportunity for advancement.

Many To Honor Wilkins

NEW YORK, N.Y. — More than 400 prominent Americans have joined the benefit committee for the gala Roy Wilkins birthday celebration to be held in September, and are listed on the invitations mailed this week, it was announced by Mrs. Ralph J. Bunche, one of the six chairmen.

The event, to mark the civil rights leader's 75th birthday and benefit the Special Contribution Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, of which Mr. Wilkins is executive director, will be held on Friday, September 10, at the New York Hilton Hotel.

Among the stars who will take part in a special program, to be produced by Geoffrey Holder, director of "The Wiz," the Broadway hit musical, are Carmen DeLaVallade, LaBelle, Mabel Mercer, Cicely Tyson and opera diva, Leontyne Price. Serving with Mrs. Bunche as chairpersons are Henry Ford, II, John H. Johnson, George Meany, John D. Rockefeller, III and Dore Scharly.

Honorary chairmen for the event are President Gerald R. Ford, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, Margaret Truman Daniel, Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, A. Philip Randolph and Mrs. Earl Warren.
