President Bluford Stunned When He Falls On Ice

PRESIDENT BLUFORD.

The snow and heavy ice formations which we experienced here during the first week in January caused a considerable flurry on the campus when on the afternoon of the 9th, President Bluford while on his way home after a very pleasant and what we hope will be a successful conference with the representative of the U. S. war department concerning the senior R. O. T. C., slipped up on the ice and was stunned but not otherwise injured.

Professor Brooks announced at the forum meeting on the 11th that the President's condition was not serious. The great applause given this announcement clearly indicated the relief that this news brought. Everybody is anxiously waiting to see the President up and about his usual duties again. He will be out soon. He is doing fine, and we hope his efforts in behalf of the R. O. T. C. and the young men who will be entering the army will bring the favorable results he has been striving for so long.

Bishop William W. Peele Speaks At Bennett Vespers

Bishop William W. Peele, of Richmond, Va., resident bishop of the Richmond area in the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist church, will speak at the weekly vespers of Bennett College on Sunday, January 18. It was announced at the college today. Bishop Peele will be the sixth bishop who has accepted an invitation to speak at the local institution so far this year, and he will be followed by a seventh Methodist prelate in May, when Bishop Bromley Oznam, of Boston, will deliver the Bennett baccalaureate address.

The other dignitaries of the Methodist church who have been guest speakers at Bennett this year include Bishop Edgar H. Blake, of Coral Gables, Fla., who spoke at the chapel service of the college in October, Bishop Clara Purcell of Charlotte, who was vespers speaker on January 4, and the three bishops of the Central Jurisdiction who participated in the worship service which preceded the formal dedication of Annie Messer Pfeiffer chapel at the college in November. On that occasion Bishop Alexander P. Rhaw presided at the service, Bishop Lorenzo H. King, of Atlanta, gave the reading, and Bishop Robert E. Julet, of Columbia, O., delivered the sermon.

"Reading As a Hobby" Talk Given At Bennett

"Reading As a Hobby" was the title of a talk given at Bennett College yesterday morning by Mrs. Constance H. Martens, librarian at the college, in the special Freshman Tuesday Morning Series at Bennett. This series of programs for the youngest class at Bennett was initiated several weeks ago, as the second step in an intensive orientation and guidance program for the freshmen.

In addition to Mrs. Martens's talk, Mrs. Melba B. Dennis of the Art Department spoke on Handicraft and Art, and Aaron C. Dutton, science instructor, discussed photography as a hobby. College songs and music by Miss Bernice DeCosta of Charleston and Miss Thora Kelly, of Philadelphia, both freshmen, accompanied the program.

Miss Willa B. Payer, registrar and director of admissions at Bennett, will speak during the Conference Affairs hour at the college tomorrow, reporting on the recent conference on education and national defense in Baltimore, where she was a member of the Sub-Committee on women in colleges.

Moving Picture

Dr. F. C. Shirley, of Charlotte, N. C., showed a wonderful moving picture on missions at the St. James Presbyterian church.

Home Basketball Game Is Thrilled Packed

Jordan Sellars Has Several New Basketball Team Members

The Jordan Sellars teams, both boys and girls, have several new members who show great promise. In the opening game of the season with Hillside of Durham, Louise Norwood, a junior, began to show promise, scoring seven of the total 19 points to win the game by the narrow margin of one basket. At the same time the Hillside boys romped over the J. H. S. contingent 45-13. In a return engagement the Burlington outfit dropped both games, the girls 23-14, the boys, 34-9.

The second home game was thrilled-packed. The home team, spurred on by the cheering of the capacity house, tied the girls game, Mary Frances Shaw making seven of the nine points. Clyde Foster, senior, and David Maynard, junior, gained 14 and eight points respectively, with each of the other two members making four each to win the game, 34-23.

Two other out-of-town games have appeared on the card, one with Wadesville and one with High Point. Both teams proved too strong for the J. H. S. aggregation.

When the Goldston teams invaded the Jordan Sellars territory they received the most severe trouncing the J. H. S. cagers have ever administered. William Hurdle, sophomore, starred with 18 points. David Maynard with 16 and Clyde Foster with 13 followed closely. Final scores were 63-16. The girls team won 17-16. In the return game the girls lost by a narrow margin of one basket while the boys continued the tactics of the previous week. David Maynard scoring eight points in the third quarter. The J. H. S. cagers held the Goldstoners scoreless in the second half to bring the final tally to 29-7.

Opportunity To Render Patriotic Service

Leads Should Know Details of Various Programs

In the stress of the tremendous call to every American citizen, the Co-Operative Extension Service of North Carolina deem it necessary to invite the Negro-Leaders of the race who are in contact with the public to attend one of the two meetings scheduled, the first one to meet at Shaw University on January 20 and the other at Livingstone College of January 22. You are requested to attend the one more convenient in distance to you.

Opportunity to Render Patriotic Service.

Co-operative Extension Service is especially responsible to the rural citizens of both races in America. With the country at war, every citizen, as well as every organization and department, is urged to function to the highest degree of efficiency. Honorable Claude Wickard, Secretary, U. S. department of agriculture, has said, "Food will win the war and write the peace, three V's, Vegetables, Vitality, Victory."

Object of These Meetings.

It is realized that in order to get the most effective results in the shortest possible time, first, the leaders should know the National and State Program, and second, to set up machinery whereby we may be assured that all the rural people get the national and state program at once. Dean I. O. Schaub, director of extension service, State college, Raleigh, and Mr. Fred Stone, in charge of program planning of extension service, State college, Raleigh, will be present, both at Shaw university and at Livingstone college, to give first hand information on the activities now in progress and to explain the "Food For Freedom" program that will be launched within a few days in an intensive way. Therefore, we take this medium to request you to attend one of these meetings if at all possible and use your influence to bring someone or a party with you. Each meeting will open at 10:50 a. m. and adjourn at 12:30 p. m. No provisions are being made for lunch at Shaw, but there are many nice eating places in Raleigh where lunch or dinner can be had. President Trent of Livingstone college has offered to furnish luncheon at a reasonable price if he is informed as to how many may be expected.

We look forward to having you, with your friends, either at Shaw on the 20th or at Livingstone on the 22nd.

F. A. Freeman Talks On South America

Speaker Says That Economically, Socially Surpass South America

"Social and Economic Conditions in South America" was the subject of Mr. F. A. Freeman's talk to the Greensboro Negro League, Tuesday night at which there was held a banquet. The speaker is a native of Georgetown, British Guiana, South America, and is now studying at the A. and T. College of this city. The president, L. R. Russell, acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

The speaker stated that both economically and socially his own country surpassed South America, due to our highly industrialized system of living. He cited the fact that only one institution of higher learning has been established in British Guiana, and that being in 1929.

Other speakers for the occasion were Professor F. A. Brown, head of diversified training at Dudley high School, who encouraged Civilian Defense for the preservation of our democracy, and Commissioner B. A. Collier of the juvenile court. He declared in his brief remarks that his work was just as important to the defense of our nation than any other power.

The banquet was comprised of the delicacies of the season, with very capable waiters and waitresses which added to its elegance. The president spoke words of encouragement concerning the proposed Day Nursery, which is the major objective of the league at this time.

The program consisted of three musical selections rendered by Mrs. E. K. Hightower, Mr. Morris H. Tynes and Miss Rhuvellie Alexander.
