Negro On Gory Rampage Kills Wife and Two Sisters Tuesday

Four people were killed and two others injured, one of them possibly fatally, when a Negro, said by police to be Will Dawkins, ran amuck with a shotgun near Hamlet about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and later escaped into a swamp near the city where police believe he is surrounded by a posse.

Included in the list of dead are J. B. Fallow, chief of Hamlet police, about 48; the wife of Dawkins and his two sisters. Wounded included two children, both believed to be the sons of Dawkins. One of the children was shot through his hand and will recover.

Chief Fallow, who responded to the call for help, was riding in a car with C. B. Eacho, railway special officer, when he was killed. They believed they had the Negro cornered, according to Tommy Adkins, member of the Richmond county fire rationing board, who was acting as police desk sergeant, when the Negro slipped up behind the chief's car, stuck the shotgun through a window of the car and fired, the load of shot taking full effect in Chief Fallow's face and head.

Negro Flees

The Negro, who lived on the Bennettsville highway a mile south of Hamlet, fled in the direction of Bennettsville, and Chief Fallow died about the time he reached the hospital.

A posse, headed by Richmond county Sheriff E. B. Morris, senior police officer, E. B. Smith, of Hamlet, all available police, state prison officers and state highway patrolmen and volunteers took up the trail shortly afterwards. The Negro was sighted once after the shooting. Adkins said, and officers believed that he doubled back and was hiding in a swamp near his home, an extensive area which will require a number of hours to cover.

Cause Not Known

Cause for the trouble could not be immediately determined, Adkins said, but in Hamlet it is generally surmised that the shooting at the Dawkins home resulted from a domestic quarrel. Dawkins does not have a police record in Hamlet, Adkins said, and so far as police know, they could not ascribe any real motive for the crime.

The negro is five feet, six inches tall, weighs about 200 pounds, was described as ginger cake color, and has a black mustache. He was dressed in khaki clothes.

Railroads leading out of Hamlet are under guard.

Chief Fallow, who was about 48 years of age, had been on the force since 1933 and had been chief since 1937. He was a highly respected and efficient officer. Clerk Gray stated the chief is survived by his wife and two daughters. Mrs. Pauline Hummer of Hamlet had another daughter in Philadelphia. No funeral arrangements had been made.

Tabulation of the final returns on all states reveals that new truck registrations in 1941 reached an all-time high of 640,007 units.

taken reported that no water was found in the lungs, indicating that the boy may have died of a heart attack instead of drowning.

The boy was reported missing late Sunday night and his clothing and bicycle were found on the dam yesterday about 3:15 p. m. by Melvin McNair, Negro, 429 Stewart street, who was assisting the boy's father in the search.

It developed that the drowned youth and seven Negro companions, had ridden to the lake Sunday afternoon. The White boy jumped in the water and went under almost immediately. Eugene Garrett, 12, one of White's companions, said he and Walter Bennett, 13, attempted to rescue the youth but were unsuccessful.

Cold Frames Started At Goshen High

On April 24, 1942, the Goshen Junior high school N. F. A. chapter started one of the most valuable cold frames as a group project that have ever been started in Goshen center. The chapter plans to continue the job annually. Eighty per cent of the chapter has selected vegetable gardens as their project. This represents the first group project that has ever been started in this area.

The chapter plans to grow a variety of vegetable slips for each member in the N. F. A. chapter. Around ten different varieties of vegetables have been planted already, and plans are already made for others. This year the N. F. A. boys plan to distribute a variety of vegetable plants among every member of the group, and carry out successfully a family garden in every N. F. A. boy's home. Each boy plans to set out 500 or more slips of each different variety grown in the cold frames.

And then there was the man-about-town who when told he should get interested in gardens, thought what was meant was the roof variety.
