Three separate locations in Greensboro for the registering of youths in the 18-19-20-year age bracket Tuesday, June 30, fifth registration day, have been arranged for this event by George E. Perrin, local registration chairman for the general committee headed by McDaniel Lewis, it was announced Friday.

At city hall it is expected that registration tables will be placed in the main corridor and also on the second floor, while at the courthouse the grand jury room, courtroom No. 1 and the tax listing space in the basement will be utilized.

Mr. Perrin said the services of 150 to 200 volunteer registrants will be needed, the registration for the entire area covered by the three local boards having been estimated to be about 3,500.

Registration will begin at 7 a. m. and continue until 9 p. m., or later if necessary, it was said. B. E. Campbell, No. 1 clerk, and James V. Morgan, No. 3 clerk, will supervise arrangements for registration in the rural precincts in their respective board areas.

Lack of Housing Driving Workers From Wilmington

Substantial numbers of workers in the yards of the North Carolina Shipbuilding company, of Wilmington, are quitting their jobs and leaving Wilmington because they cannot find shelter for themselves and their families, Henry R. Emory, chairman of the defense housing committee of the New Hanover defense council, said he had been informed Friday.

"The labor problem is one of the foremost problems that the shipbuilding company has to meet in turning out Liberty freighters for the war-time commission," he said.

"The company cannot produce ships on schedule without the cooperation of citizens of Wilmington and New Hanover county. Every householder and property-owner here can do an immense service to the war effort by helping to provide shelter for the shipyard workers." Available rooms, apartments and houses should be listed with the homes' registration office or with a real estate agency at once, Mr. Emory said.

Motor Club Would Drop City Car Tag

Action Based On Motorist Survey

Based its action on a recent poll of motorists in eight of North Carolina's largest cities, the Carolina Motor club is urging all municipalities to discontinue the present system of collecting $1 for every motor vehicle registered by parties living within the city limits, according to information received Thursday from Mrs. H. I. Ryan, manager of the local branch office of Carolina Motor club.

Mrs. Ryan said that votes of local members of the club and other Greensboro motorists made in February, totaled about 98 per cent favorable to the abandonment of the city automobile license or stickers. Total from poll of the eight cities amounted to 95.7 per cent for the discontinuance and 4.3 per cent for continuance of the city tag.

Reason for the act is that the federal government now finds it necessary to collect more taxes from the motor vehicle than ever before, according to a statement from Coleman W. Roberts, president of Carolina Motor club.

If cities find it absolutely necessary to collect $1 fee, let it add that dollar to the property tax, just as they do when they collect the poll tax, Mr. Roberts stated.

State Draft Policies Still Rate Married Men for Army

Problem of Income And Self Support Factor

Under present selective service policies, married men are being inducted into the army, state selective service headquarters, at Raleigh, reported Friday.

Local draft boards have been instructed, state headquarters reported, not to alter their classification policies in anticipation of new regulations which may follow the passage of the new allotments and allowances bill.

Bona fide 3-A men are not to be placed in class 1-A on the theory that the allotments and allowances bill will provide for their dependents. "The present deferment policy provides that men should not be classified in 3-A simply because they have wives. The thing to consider is whether the wife is a dependant of the registrant. If so, he is entitled to be in 3-A," a selective service official said.

It also provides that simply because a man's wife works or is capable of working, she is not automatically excluded as a dependant. The thing to consider is her income and her prospect of becoming and continuing self supporting.
