First Group Negro Naval Men Leave Camp Smalls

The first group of Negro recruits to complete their basic naval training have left Camp Robert Smalls, Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Illinois, the navy department announced today.

Additional recruits have taken the places of those who are being assigned to duty or schools for further training.

Present plans contemplate forwarding groups of the newly trained recruits each month to Hampton Institute for courses to fit them to become specialists. Another group will receive specialized training each month at the naval training station, Great Lakes, Illinois. The first advanced classes at Hampton and Great Lakes will start on September 15.

Out of the first 222 men to complete their basic training at Camp Robert Smalls, 102 will receive advanced training at Hampton or Great Lakes. These men will be trained as electricians, machinists, carpenters, metalmiths, shipfitters, quartermasters and yeomen.

The remaining recruits will be assigned to duty aboard district and defense craft and to other stations throughout the country.

Americans Are Urged To Cut Their Meat Resuirements

Warning that a meat rationing program will be instituted within the next four months, Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture and chairman of the foods requirements committee, this week urged all Americans to conserve meat voluntarily until the program is installed.

Secretary Wickard issued this statement on "Managing the Meat Supply in Wartime":

"The following are the facts about meat output and meat demand developed through six weeks of study by the foods requirements committee:

"1. The total supply is the largest on record. Livestock production is the greatest in history. Packers are handling and will handle more meat than ever before. For the present marketing year, the meat output of America will be over 24 billion pounds.

"2. The total demand is also the largest on record. Our fighting forces need large quantities of our meat. Our allies need large supplies. Military and lend-lease schedules now call for about 6 billion pounds, and may go higher, if ships become available. On top of that, our civilian population, with the highest incomes on record, working harder than ever before, want more meat than ever before. They would take about 21 billion pounds this year.

"3. The total demand adds up to more than the total supply, 27 billion pounds of demand; 24 billion pounds of supply.

"4. We can't take the meat away from our fighting men. Also we must keep sending our allies enough to sustain their war effort.

"The first problem before the committee, then, is how to make sure that the supply is managed so that our fighting men and their allies get their minimum requirements.

"The committee's decision is a WPB conservation order, limiting the amount that packers can sell into civilian trade in this country. The committee recommends that it be issued as soon as possible. It will allow packers to supply civilians with as much meat per capita as they have eaten on the average in the past 10 years. It will give our civilians approximately 2 1/2 pounds of meat per person per week, as contrasted with the one pound to the British civilian, 12 ounces to the German, 5 ounces to the Belgian. It is an adequate meat supply. When you add in the increased supply of poultry, and cheese, and dry beans we have, it provides a topnotch protein diet for us.

"But still, the civilian meat supply will be less than civilians would buy."

"Therefore, the second problem before the foods requirements committee is how to assure fair distribution of the supply among the people of the country. We ought to manage the supply so that the housewife who can't get to the store until afternoon won't be forced to do without; so that everyone has a chance to buy his fair share of the total."
