Dr. Mays Speaks At Bennett Vespers

Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College opened the vesper series of Bennett College here recently in Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Mays told his large audience of students and visitors that there is a time element in life when certain things must be done. He used a text from the 11th chapter of Ecclesiastes — "In the morning sow thy seed. In the evening withhold thy hand."

The speaker suggested to his youthful audience that there were in a period life between the morning and noon and that this was one of the most important periods of their lives.

He asserted that what they did now would determine the course of their lives twenty-five years from now.

The college choir sang under the direction of Orrin Clayton Southern, II.

Shaw University Formally Opened On September 25

Approximately four hundred and sixty Shaw students heard the Reverend G. E. Cheek, principal of the Warren County Training School, Wise, outline the secret of solving human problems in the formal opening exercises of Shaw University held Friday, September 24, in the Shaw Greenleaf Memorial Hall.

The exercises of the Raleigh school was one of the most significant to President Robert P. Daniel who announced that the enrollment of students already registered exceeds by seventeen per cent last year's first semester second largest college student body in the history of the school.

Other events of the opening included a talent night for freshmen, special conferences with personnel officers, a theater party, and the faculty reception to new students, all affairs having been designed to orientate the record freshman class to the Shaw community.

Other speakers on the formal opening occasion included Dr. C. C. Spaulding, chairman of the executive committee of the Shaw trustee board; the Rev. J. T. Hairston, member of the board; Mrs. A. L. Filmore, corresponding secretary of the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Society; and the Rev. O. L. Sherill, president of the alumni association of the Shaw University School of Religion.

In the main address Mr. Cheek urged the Shaw students "to be aware of the social economic and political problems which beset the universe, but do not forget the great need of getting spiritual assistance in the solution of these problems."

"The getting of wisdom and understanding," he continued, "is an important thing, but it is no more important than developing the habits of good conduct in dealing with your fellow man."

Broughton Names New Commission

Raleigh — Appointments to the North Carolina Board of Correction and Training, authorized by the 1943 legislature, were announced today by Governor Broughton, who asked the members to meet with him October 7 and select a chairman.

Those named were: Dr. W. Houston Moore, Wilmington; Mrs. Clarence Herr, Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Howard G. Etheridge, Asheville, one-year terms; Dr. Rachel D. Davis, Kinston; Dr. A. M. Proctor, Durham, and B. V. Hedrick, Salisbury, two-year terms; J. C. Braswell, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Thomas L. Riddle, Sanford, and W. L. Parsons, Jr., Rockingham, three-year terms; Mrs. Gertrude Weil, Goldsboro; Gordon C. Hunter, Roxboro, and Dr. William Marvin Stryggs, Charlotte, four-year terms; W. N. Harrell, Wilson; Herman Cone, Greensboro, and Mrs. J. R. Page, Aberdeen, five-year terms; Clyde A. Dillon, Raleigh, J. J. Earnhart, Concord, and Dr. W. A. Stanbury, Winston-Salem, six-year terms.

The board will manage and supervise all the state's correctional and training schools, including Stonewall Jackson Manual Training and Industrial school at Concord, Eastern Carolina Industrial Training School for Boys at Rocky Mount; Industrial Farm Colony for Girls at Kinston, State Home and Industrial School for Girls at Samarcand, and Morrison Training School for Delinquent Negro Boys at Hoffman.

Also, the board will supervise and control the state training school for Negro girls, authorized by the last legislature but not yet established. One of the first duties of the new board, the Governor said, will be to consider plans for the newly authorized institution.

The act under which the consolidated board was established provided that the board consist of 19 members, with the commissioner of public welfare, Mrs. W. T. Bost, an ex officio member. It further stipulated that an order that the eastern, central and western sections of the state should have equal representation, the Governor should name two women and four men from each section, and that in the original appointments, the board be divided into six classes.

The board is required to meet at least four times a year, successively at each of the institutions. Executive committees at least three members will be appointed for each.

The board also has authority to employ a commissioner of correction.
