Democracy Depends Upon Individuals

"Democracy can abound on a campus or in a nation only when the individuals of that group are willing to carry through the responsibility resting on them," declared Dr. Wilford M. Akin, speaking to the students of Bennett College last week.

Dr. Akin told his audience that he knew of no other place in the country where the opportunity is more real than on the Bennett campus. He told them that the faculty and administration held confidence in their ability to carry out a plan which will create the finest possible kind of life.

"We must win this struggle, asserted Dr. Akin, in order to go on and create a life here where every individual will have the opportunity to become his best self in spite of obstacles."

Democracy, Dr. Akin suggested, means respect for the worth and dignity of others, the opportunity to share to the fullest extent in the common concern of all, and the reliance on the intelligence to create the solution to our problems.

The speaker reminded the students that they have an inescapable responsibility in all phases of the college life which must be borne. To do so, he warned, will require courage and determination to see that the kind of life we dream of for the nation is lived here by you.

Mrs. Martha Sebastian Gorleigh, librarian of the Carnegie library, here was heard at Bennett College at the regular contemporary affairs assembly, last week.

Mrs. Gorleigh spoke on the women of Russia and traced the history of the part women have played through the centuries in the life of the soviet union.

She asserted that there is nothing mystical about the Russian doggedness but that they had an ideal and were willing to live and die for it.

If people would love Jesus sufficiently they would only do the Christian thing, declared Mr. Maynard Catchings guest speaker of the YWCA Recognition Service held Sunday in Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

Mr. Catchings is a graduate of the Prairie View State Teachers College, Texas, and received his Bachelor of Divinity and Master Degree from Howard University Washington. At present he is the National Student Secretary of the YMCA.

"If you love Jesus enough, you will obey his commandments," said Mr. Catchings. That would abolish the strife and turmoil in the world today, because men would be Christian brothers and would ask before doing anything doubtful, is this the Christian thing, he declared. Even those forces which you would normally expect to practice Christianity neglect to do so, stated Mr. Catchings. The church has discriminating and exclusive policies, oppressed people help to oppress, all of which is frustrating and disappointing, he pointed out.

Mr. Catchings continued to say that if people loved Jesus enough to carry out his commandments, liberal and converted groups would not mind taking the risk of initiating social change, even at the risk of losing supporters. He declared that as long as we feel we must appease someone or some group, a change is doubtful.

Mr. Catchings made a fervent plea to the "Y" members saying, that as they give themselves to the "Y", give in criticism and support as it launches out against the essential teachings of our society and its relationship to Jesus.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Nancy McDowell, adviser to the Bennett unit of the YWCA.

The purpose of the "Y" was outlined by Miss Vera Wooden. Others on the program included: Miss Lois Howard, president of the "Y" at A. and T. college; Miss Barbara Ann Smith, president of the "Y" at Woman's college and Miss Marion Payton, president of the Bennett "Y".

Music was furnished by the Junior Choir under the direction of Miss Geraldine Patterson, instructor in voice at Bennett college and Mrs. Gwendolyn McMillan at the organ.
