PRICE: 5c

Windsor Center Sponsors Marble Tournament

Marble tournaments have been conducted at the following city schools: Charles H. Moore, Jonesboro, Pomona and St. Mary's Mission. Tournaments will be conducted at the following city schools this week: J. C. Price, Jacksonville, Dudley high, Washington grammar and Washington primary.

The winner from each of these schools along with the winners from the following county schools, which are: East White Oak, Brown Summit, Florence, Gibsonville, Goshen, Mt. Zion, Popular Grove, Sedalia, Summerville and John W. Woody will meet at the Windsor Center Saturday morning, May 20, 1944, at 9 o'clock. From the Center the group will go to the Memorial Stadium where all City and County winners will shoot in a Round Robin Tournament for the County Championship.

Each school winner will receive a prize at the school and will receive additional prizes for competing in the tournament. All winners will be given a free lunch and a free movie.

Soldier Recreation is in full swing at the Windsor Center. The dances at the Center are still conducted at the Center and on the post. On Tuesday and Fridays the girls meet as usual at the Center and go to the camp. On Wednesdays and Saturdays the dances are held at the Center. On Wednesday, May 17, there will be a formal at the Center in honor of the Post Swing band. All soldiers and V.S.O. Girls are invited to attend. Pool tables are needed very much to help with the entertainment for the soldiers. If any one has some available to donate or to sell the Windsor Community Center would be grateful for consideration.

The course in home nursing is being conducted at the Windsor Center on Monday and Thursday nights at 8 o'clock.

ANNUAL SONG FESTIVAL AT MEMORIAL STADIUM

Music lovers will attend the greatest musical festival ever held soon. This unusual event of entertainment will feature a list of 24 selected quartettes from North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia as well as several widely known vocalists stage and radio stars.

In addition, this includes the kiddie party at the Palace theater, with 1,000 children of Greensboro and with dolls parading down the principal streets and preceding the concert at the stadium. Contestants for May Queen will be judged.

Watch the Future Outlook for the list and standing of contestants, and be sure to vote for your favorite. For further information see Mr. L. R. Russell, promoter, who is dedicating this program to the promotion of inter-racial goodwill.

Roland Hayes To Sing At Bennett College

Greensboro.—The internationally known tenor, Roland Hayes, highlights the entertainment of the Central Jurisdictional conference, Methodist church, which convenes at Bennett college, June 6-11.

The appearance of Mr. Hayes has been planned by the local entertainment committee for the conference. The recital will be given in beautiful Annie Merner Pfeiffer chapel at 8:15 p. m. Saturday, night, June 10.

He has received international acclaim and numbers among his many triumphs a command performance before King George V of England, at Buckingham palace.

The life of Roland Hayes should prove an outstanding example to young America today.

Born in poverty in a backwoods Georgia town, endowed with a passion for music, he absorbed from his widowed mother, Angel Mo', a desire for perfection and a will of steel that no obstacles could shake.

He left no stone unturned to fit himself for a career. He studied evenings after hard days of work in the steel mills, then as a butler and furnace boy he earned money that carried him through Fiske university. It was there that he sang with the famous Jubilee Singers and with them he came to Boston where he remained to complete his musical education. His progress was phenomenal and he soon gave his first successful concert at Symphony hall.

Success followed success. The musical world acclaimed him and King George and Queen Mary commanded his appearance. He toured France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Russia, Africa and South America, singing in their native tongues—a feat rarely accomplished by an artist.

The world had cause to recognize Roland Hayes and his perfected art, inspired by Angel Mo'.

POOLE APPOINTED SCOUTMASTER OF TROOP NO. 43

Mr. C. R. Johnson, chairman of the Boy Scout troop No. 43 at Shilo Baptist church announce the appointment of Mr. Lorenza Poole as scoutmaster to succeed Mr. Lee Womble, who has left the city.

Mr. Poole is new in scouting as a leader, but Mr. Johnson seems confident that Mr. Poole will be an excellent scoutmaster, and the youth will be very enthusiastic about his appointment. Mr. Poole is a graduate of Dudley high school, married and is now living at 1107 S. Ashe street.

At present he is making plans for the summer camp season. He expresses hope to make every scout in troop No. 43 a Camper this year.

Nurses Training School of L. Richardson Mem. Hospital Hold Graduating Exercises

NOTICE

The Future Outlook will be out next Thursday, May 25 in order that the readers will have an opportunity to select their candidate to vote for on Saturday, May 27.

Rev. C. W. Anderson, pastor of the Institutional Baptist church used four major objectives in his address to the Nurse Training graduate class of L. Richardson Memorial hospital.

His first objective was to think clearly without confusion.

Second objective, Love your fellow man.

Third objective, Act from honest motive purely.

Fourth objective, Faith in God. Rev. Anderson said one should be able to think swiftly. There have been many lives lost because of not knowing how to think and react in the right way to solve difficult problems.

The strong thing in one's work which makes him react is love. He stated, "One should love his fellowman as himself," and "One should share with his fellowman."

He also stated, that one should act from honest motive purely, to live a life that is set by Christ to be kind, good, and have a pleasing personality at all times.

In conclusion, Rev. Anderson said, "One should have faith in what he undertakes to do and a firm foundation and put God before all his doing."

Candidates for graduation were: Miss Corinne Harrison, Nashville.

Miss Celestine Melissa Rita Webster, Newport News, Va. Miss Rachel Frances Hult, Catawba.

Miss Marguerite Louise Gary, Demopolis, Ala.

NEW BOY SCOUT TROOP ORGANIZED

Boy Scout troop No. 44 at Providence Baptist church has been organized with Mr. R. U. Donnell, chairman of the troop committee. This is the first troop to be organized since the spring drive for new scouts was started.

Mr. Romeo Snipes was appointed scoutmaster with Mr. John Ray as assistant scoutmaster. Both men have been scouts and Mr. Donnell expresses belief that under the such fine leadership, Troop No. 44 will soon be one of the best troops in the city.

Members of the troop committee includes: R. U. Donnell, chairman, R. E. Wallace, W. J. Snipes, J. D. Vines, E. D. Lomro, A. E. Foust and Rev. Morris Tynes.

Politics Getting Hot In Guilford; Primary May 27

The many new names added to the registration books in Guilford county indicate a rather lively interest in the primary which will be held Saturday, May 27.

The registration books closed last Saturday and Saturday, of this week will be challenge day, when the registrars will be at the polling places throughout the day. J. Leslie Abbott, county election board chairman, is busy this week preparing ballots for distribution to the registrars in the county's 69 precincts.

Although nothing that would resemble "heat" has been engendered in the campaign among Guilford county aspirants to office, some of the candidates are conducting intensive campaigns through newspaper advertisements, campaign literature and word of mouth methods.

Lively State Campaign.

However, the situation is different in the Democratic campaigns for Governor and United States senator. In the gubernatorial race, Maj. R. Gregg Cherry and Dr. Ralph W. McDonald have been shelling the woods, each carrying his campaign personally to every county in the state. Olla Ray Boyd is the other aspirant to the Democratic nomination for governor, but The Democrat has not been able to learn much about his activity.

Former Gov. Clyde Hoey and Rep. Cameron Morrison have been intensively beating the bushes for the senatorial nomination. Marvin Ritch, another aspirant, has also with no contributions, reported his expenses so far had been $47.

Manley Spends $65.80.

W. A. Manley, seeking the nomination for constable in Morehead township, reported expenditures of $65.80 with no contributions. James R. A. Wilson, seeking the job of constable in Gilmer township, listed his expenditures at $20.15 with no contributions. Elmer Ransom, aspiring to be constable in Morehead township, reported a $10 donation and expenses of $14.75. C. P. Smith, seeking to be constable in Gilmer, reported expenditures of $7.80 and no donations.

A number of other candidates have submitted reports indicating that the cost of their filing fee constituted their total expenses.
