Distinguished Negro Tenor To Sing At A. & T. College On Summer School Lyceum

Frederick Johnson, distinguished Negro tenor will be presented in the Harris auditorium, A. and T. college, Tuesday, June 20 at 12 noon. His appearance at the college is under the auspices of the summer school lyceum.

Possessed of a tenor voice which has been described by critics as "soft and clear, yet full of strength," Frederick Johnson brings to his recitals not only a trained voice but the training of a musician and of a composer. His programs include spirituals he has himself recorded and original compositions, as well as well known ballads and the art songs of other countries.

In preparing his programs, Mr. Johnson makes a point of including those spirituals which he has heard sung by men and women who learned the music from their parents and grandparents. Among the ballads he has arranged directly from the lips of Negroes whose ancestry reaches back into the colonial era are, "The Sun Do Move" and "Poor Lazarus."

Frederick Johnson started his musical career as a boy soprano in a Columbus, O., high school, where he was soloist with the high school chorus, as well as soloist in many outside recitals, and the recipient of awards in several state-wide and national voice competitions. He attended the Capital university, conservatory and Fisk university, where he was soloist with the famous Fisk university chorus.

He left Fisk to take a scholarship in voice and dramatics at Sherwood conservatory in Chicago, winning the award against a competitive field of several applicants. He was the first Negro to be presented in a recital by Sherwood conservatory.

Later, he joined the Kentucky singers, of which he was soloist as well as the author of special arrangements for the group, which sang throughout Canada. He left the Kentucky singers for a period to appear as featured singer on the Farm Broadcasts of the Canadian Broadcasting company.

He was cast in one of the leading roles in the Chicago version of the "Mikado," and he has appeared in recitals throughout the west, as well as appearing as soloist with the Eureka singers, a group which has appeared at many army camps and naval officers' clubs in California, and on numerous radio stations.

Reemployment For Veterans
 To be entitled to reemployment rights under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, the veteran must be honorably discharged and must apply for reemployment "within 40 days after he is relieved from training and service," according to National Headquarters of Selective Service. A soldier placed in inactive status and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps at his own request to engage in essential industry loses his reemployment rights if he does not apply to his former employer for reinstatement within 40 days after his transfer. A veteran has recourse to the courts to collect back pay if his reinstatement is improperly delayed by the employer.

ELECTRIC HEAT FOR WAR
 An electric furnace produces heat exceeding 3,500 degrees centigrade and can melt 25 tons of iron and steel at one time to produce the highest quality of steel for America's implements of war.

A. & T. OPENS FORTY-EIGHTH SUMMER SESSION

The 48th annual session of the summer school at A. and T. college has begun with an enrollment of 300, notwithstanding the fact that about half of the normal enrollment has become engaged in war work.

Twenty of the leading colleges of the country, located in all sections of the United States are represented. The majority of the students come from North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia.

The present session will end July 14 and the second six-week session will begin July 15.

Dean Wainwright T. Gibbs, director of the summer session, states the program is varied in that it offers freshmen an opportunity to shorten the time required for graduation; short courses for those interested in qualifying for civil service positions, home gardening and work leading to the master of science degree.

HEALTH GAUGE

A development of electronic research is the "sunfall meter" which measures and records the quantity of sun-tan ultraviolet rays penetrating to the earth. With this device, scientists and weather experts expect to determine the relationships, if any, between ultraviolet sunfall and health in different regions of the country.

POWERFUL LIGHT

The army's anti-aircraft searchlight is so powerful that it is possible to read a newspaper by its light at a distance of twelve miles. The 60-inch reflector is rated at 800,000,000 candlepower.
