OUR JOB ON THE HOME FRONT

If we should hope for an early and a possibly lasting peace, we know that we at Charles H. Moore school must share the big responsibility now. The big job is FIGHT. While the soldiers are doing their job on the battle fields, we have decided to help by buying more war stamps that can be used to purchase more war materials, and to develop the proper patriotic respect for our fellowmen within our race, our country, hemisphere, and the world. This proper patriotic respect for our fellowmen will be the basis for the early and possibly lasting peace, or the true democracy that we have dreamed about for two or more centuries. The children shown in the above picture have pledged in their small way, to buy war stamps monthly, and to spread good will in the school, community and abroad.
