Rev. J. T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian church, will preach for the Elks Sunday afternoon, May 25, at the Elks' Hall, 505 East Market street, at 5 o'clock.

Rev. Douglas served as chaplain in the recent war, and for sometime was overseas, where he came in contact with men of all races. A forceful speaker, it is interesting to hear him relate some of his experiences while serving in this capacity.

Boy Scouts Want Bottles

We know you must have a pile of empty bottles lying around the house or yard, somewhere, that you'd like to get rid of in the easiest way. Well here's your chance to do it.

Members of the Greensboro Boy Scout troops want those bottles to help raise funds to provide improvements to Boy Scouts camps in this area . . . they want any kind of cold drinks bottles, milk bottles, or any other types of beverages.

All you have to do is gather up the bottles and place them on the curb in front of your house this coming Sunday . . . that's Sunday, May 25 . . . by 2 p. m. The Scouts will come by in trucks and pick them up. If you live outside the city, call in to the Boy Scouts headquarters here and they'll send someone out to pick up those empty bottles, wherever you are. Or, if you care to, you can bring the bottles, yourself, to the curb market site on Commerce Place Sunday afternoon and turn them in there.

It's the Boy Scouts Bottle Collection Campaign Sunday afternoon. All funds will go to the camp improvements such as purchasing boats, handicraft, etc.

The drive here Sunday is being headed up by R. D. Douglas, Jr., chairman, D. D. Gallegher, council commissioner, and senior scouts.

In marshy lands near Morehead City are several heron and egret rookeries which, until recent years, was guarded by an Audobon-paid warden.
