Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is.

An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented, because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These youngsters have the highest risk of infection.

Measles immunization is safe, inexpensive, and easily performed. See your doctor for his recommendations.

If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get rid of this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

Bliss Announces New Youth Conferences

Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss today announced a new series of youth conferences which will bring together between four and five thousand young people on college campuses in eleven states.

One of the host colleges selected is Georgia State University in Atlanta, Ga., which is expected to attract outstanding students from the Atlanta University Complex which includes Morehouse College, Spelman College, Clark College and Morse Brown College. Other colleges in the area expected to participate in the one day conference include, Emory University, Agnes Scott College and Georgia Tech.

The conferences, beginning in April, are a part of the youth program, "Opportunities Unlimited," announced by Bliss last November. The first meeting was held at the Madison campus of the University of Wisconsin, December 10. The Madison meeting has been used as a guide in the shaping of the conference announced today and those which are in the planning stage.

The spring meetings span the country, including states in New England, the south, the middle west and the far west. Additional conferences for regions and states not included in these meets will be held in the fall.

Purposes of the youth program are to recruit young people into the Republican party and to show them the opportunities available in public service. It is hoped that through the program many young people with a potential for leadership will be brought into pursuits which will make

Veterans' Corner

Q—Under the new VA school law can a correspondence course be followed?

A—Yes if the school and course are approved.

Q—I have lost my discharge. Can I obtain another through the VA?

A—No, but any VA Office can give you the application to submit to the proper agency.

Q—May a disabled veteran if eligible, carry a $10,000 policy with both the VA and Servicemen's Group Life Insurance?

A—Yes. Servicemen about to leave Viet-Nam are now learning of veterans' benefits just before they become veterans.

The Veterans Administration has sent a team of VA Contact Representatives to talk with servicemen departing from Long Binh, a major embarkation point for Army personnel.
