Senior Missionary Society

The Senior Missionary Society of Bethel Church met in the Education Building Thursday March 16 for their regular monthly session at 8 p.m. Mrs. Ethel Anderson the President, presided. Devotion was conducted by Mrs. Theora Gilmer. The meeting was opened by singing "Glory To His Name." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Sarah Jackson. The scripture, the 19th chapter of St. John was read by Mrs. Odetta Wiggins. Mrs. Gilmer read an interesting and timely poem — "The Trail of Blood". The meeting was then turned over to the President, Mrs. Anderson who gave the lesson theme for the session — "The Toller Becomes The Thinker" — Goal — To help people to use their talents to help themselves—Learning Through Action. She presented the first panelist—Dr. L. S. Penn Sr. to the group. Dr. Penn's subject was "What is a good job." — Jobs for Youth a concern of the church today and tomorrow. He stressed three points—Qualification, preparation and rewards.

The second panelist, Mrs. Aleece Faulkner spoke on Jobs for Youth — A Concern of the Church Today and Tomorrow. She emphasized keeping the youth in school today that they may be well prepared for jobs tomorrow.

The third speaker Mrs. Beatrice Hampton from the County

Welfare Department spoke on the Community Action Program. She outlined services of the local Welfare Department in its effort to help people help themselves to become better citizens.

Mrs. Anderson concluded the discussion by saying—"Today's youth will be the adults of tomorrow, if they have an opportunity to learn depends on the adults of today if they grasp the opportunities offered them the future will be a better place in which to live than today. If they do not the world will be doomed. Let us help them to learn, to toil in a creditable way for "The Toller Becomes The Thinker" in the present and the future. The future belongs to those who prepare for it. Let's prepare our youth."

The meeting closed with the Missionary Benediction.

Bennett College Seniors Receive Caps and Gowns

Members of the senior class at Bennett College Friday received their caps and gowns and heard President Isaac H. Miller, Jr. urge them to be "creative and not reactive" as they build their lives.

"The world," he said, "is crying for creative leadership. What new ingredient do you have to put into life's recipe; what new factor into life's equation? The world is in need of young people who can inject new meaning and new principle into the life of our land. It's up to you."

President Miller urged the seniors to maintain a broad base of religious commitment, to set high standards for themselves, to place all things in perspective and to make themselves indispensable. "Have something that the world wants to pay for," he declared.

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, in presenting the 107 seniors to President Miller, revealed that, as of yesterday, Miss Patricia Faison, of New Bern, with a cumulative average of 2.85 out of a possible 3.0 is leading her

L. Richardson Hospital Gets $150,000 Loan

A $150,000 loan for L. Richardson Hospital was approved yesterday by the Greensboro City Council and the Guilford County Board of Commissioners, with each to supply half.

Funds for the five-year, interest-free loan are to come from non-ad-valorem sources in both city and county budgets.

The proposal for loans assisting the hospital in its financial crisis was made by Councilman Forrest Campbell, after the council and the commissioners earlier had denied a grant to the hospital.
