Debutantes Introduced To Glamour

These young Zeta debs were introduced to glamour at a cosmetic seminar on Sunday, Oct. 22, 1967 at N. C. A&T State University Memorial Union by Holiday Magic Consultants Mrs. Linda J. Ireland and Mrs. Marvin Outterbridge of E & S Enterprise of Greensboro.

The cosmetic seminar, the first in a series of activities planned for the debutantes, sponsored by Zeta Alpha and Beta Nu Zeta chapters of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., demonstrated proper skin care, skin applications and correct way to apply makeup.

The sorority will honor the debutants, escorts and their parents at a tea on Sunday, October 29, 1967 at 4 p.m. at the A&T Memorial Union.

Twenty-seven debs will be presented at the 17th annual Debutante Ball, to be held at A&I State University Memorial Union on December 2, 1967.

Post Office Breaks Records For Mailing For Christmas

The Post Office Department breaks records for mail volume every Christmas but 1967 may break more records than any previous year, Postmaster R. E. Sharpe said today.

In urging local citizens to mail early for Christmas, Mr. Sharpe said the four-state Atlanta Region, of which his office is a part, will handle 100 million more pieces of mail this Christmas than last year.

"This increase alone is equal to the total volume of mail in the countries for an entire month," he said.

"Only if the people cooperate and get their Christmas mailing one early, we are going to be happily swamped just before Christmas," he said. "Things will get awfully chaotic."

Regional Director C. Banks Gladden today informed the Postmaster that the volume of mail to be handled in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida will total 1,276,700,000 (Billion) pieces in December — an increase of 100 million or 8.4 per cent over last December.

The postmaster emphasized this figure represents the total incoming and outgoing pieces to be handled by all postal stations, which is the basis for determining the amount of Christmas employment.

The actual originating mail within the four-state area is expected to total 478.8 million pieces, an increase of 32.7 million over last year, he said.

Nationally, the Post Office Department is expecting a record Christmas volume of about nine billion originating pieces of mail.

"The Post Office Department has completed its planning for the holiday season," Mr. Sharpe said. "We can handle the expected increase in mail and get it delivered on time if people will mail early."

Experience in the Atlanta Region has shown that 65 per cent of all Christmas mail is delayed until the final 12 work days just before Christmas Day itself.

If this happens again, the Postmaster said the 48,000 postal employees who work at 2,400 post offices in the Region will be deluged with 799 million pieces of mail during this critical 12 day period. The Greensboro office employs 1,101 people.

"Handling this mail will be an almost hopeless task," he said, but he added this log jam can be prevented with the cooperation of mailers.

Mr. Sharpe urged that these dates be observed for domestic surface mail:

—Gifts to distant states, Dec. 4.

—Greeting cards to distant states, Dec. 10.
