

Four Added To A&T Staff At Mid-Term

Four teachers, three of them with doctor's degrees, have been added to the staff at A&T State University for the spring semester beginning next week.

University officials said that several other teachers are expected to join the staff before classes begin.

The new staff members include Dr. Botros M. Botros, professor of mechanical engineering; Dr. J. Mason Brewer, visiting lecturer in sociology and anthropology; Arthur Davis III, instructor of political science; and Dr. Howard W. Deems, visiting professor of agricultural education.

A native of Alexander, Egypt, Dr. Botros holds the Ph.D. degree from Sheffield University in England. He formerly taught production at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Deems holds two degrees from the University of Nebraska and the doctor of education degree from the University of Missouri. He has served as a professor at the University of Nebraska and also as an assistant superintendent in Nebraska's State Department of Education.

Dr. Deems' articles have appeared in the Agricultural Education magazine, American Vocational Journal and the Journal of American Association of Teacher Education.

Davis is a native of nearby

Fayetteville, N. C. and a graduate of Morehouse College. He holds a master of science degree in public administration from the University of Pittsburgh and has done further study at the Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh.

Mose Kiser, Jr. To Be General Chairman Of United Fund Drive

Mose Kiser, Jr., market analyst for Boren Clay Products Company, will be general chairman for the 1969 campaign of the United Fund for the Greater Greensboro Area. Kiser's appointment was announced today by United Fund President Louis C. Stephens, Jr.

He is the first second generation campaign chairman for the United Fund here. His father, Mose Kiser Sr., was general chairman of the 1958 campaign. The United Fund has grown considerably since the campaign for 1958 when $717,537 was raised for 28 agencies, compared to $1,243,255 raised last fall for 35 member agencies.

Chairman Kiser will be responsible for enlistment of the entire campaign organization — some 1500 volunteer workers — which will solicit funds in the fall for 1969 support of the member agencies of the United Fund. He will begin immediately to enroll volunteers to serve on the campaign cabinet.

"The United Fund Board of Directors is very pleased," Stephens said, "that Kiser has agreed to take on this most important community effort. He is an energetic, young man who is dedicated to community service and this dedication has been very evident by his participation in a great number of civic projects.

"The United Fund board has confidence that Kiser will lead us to a fifth consecutive successful campaign, and the board members will be solidly behind him as he works toward this end."

Kiser served as one of two vice chairmen in last fall's successful campaign which raised $1,243,255, an over-subscription of $2710 on a goal of $1,240,545. As vice chairman, he was in charge of six of the seventeen soliciting groups.

Kiser said: "The United Fund is the number one civic project of the Greater Greensboro Area and must be a total community effort to be successful. All citizens — both corporate and individual — have a stake in this undertaking and all must commit themselves to a successful conclusion of the 1969 campaign which will be held next fall.

"The member agencies of the United Fund work throughout the year making our area a better place to live, work and play, and we must see that these agencies have the funds necessary to maintain their program of vital services. When we give to these agencies through the United Fund, we are investing in our community, and this investment returns dividends every day throughout the year.

"I am asking all citizens to be receptive when they are asked to work on the campaign. This effort belongs to all of us, and we all must join hands to guarantee its success."

Kiser has been active in United Fund campaigns here for several years. He twice served as a loaned executive for the United Fund when employed by

BETHEL A M E CHURCH NEWS

"Bless This House"

The new home of Mrs. Fred D. Avery, Sr., located at 1907 Amhurst Road in Woodmere Park was blessed in an impressive service Sunday, January 28, at 3:30 p. m. Relatives and close friends were in attendance. The service was conducted by Dr. Leon S. Penn, Sr., pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church where Mrs. Avery is a loyal member. Mrs. Odessa Harris beautifully sang, "Bless This House"; Mrs. Sara Jackson offered a very touching and heart-warming prayer. Remarks were made by Mrs. Avery, who asked all present to visit her again.

Following the service a delicious repast was served by Mrs. Avery, assisted by Mrs. Geraldine Dawson, a daughter; Miss Sylvia Dawson, a granddaughter; Mrs. Kathleen Hester, Mrs. Ruth Cousins, and Mrs. Mary C. McTier.

Other family members present were: Mr. Fred D. Avery, Jr.; his daughters, Helen and Catherine; his son, Fred D. Avery III; Mr. Avery Simmons, Mrs. Avery's grandson, and a sister, Mrs. Martha Smith.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Vernold Pope, Mrs. Ethel Anderson, President of the Senior Missionary Society of Bethel Church, Mrs. Aleece Faulkner, Mr. Major Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Gill.

The lovely home was decorated with early spring flowers which added much to the service. Mr. Bobby Bright took several pictures of the family members and guests.

The repast consisted of cookies, homemade coconut cake, Russian tea and after-dinner mints.

LIFE BLOOD

Sickle Cell Anemia is a hereditary disease of red blood cells—a birth defect. The disease is found primarily in darker races. This sixteen year boy has been hospitalized 21 times. He must have frequent blood transfusions to sustain life. Here he is shown in March of Dimes Birth Defects Center of the John Andrew Hospital, Tuskegee Institute. There are 92 Birth Defects Centers supported by the March of Dimes. Two of these Birth Defects Centers concentrate on Sickle Cell Anemia problems. The other March of Dimes Birth Defects Center is located in Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, Ill.
