Veterans' Corner

Q—I was drafted and have served two years. Now I am about to be released from active duty but must serve in the Reserves. May I keep my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance while in the Reserves or must I convert to a private plan?

A—You must convert your SGLI policy to a private plan within 120 days after release from active duty if you want to keep this insurance protection. For further information, contact your nearest VA office when you get back home or write to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, N.J. 07102.

Q—I lost my father in Korea and the VA has been paying an allowance to my mother for me. When I enter college this fall, will the War Orphans Educational allowance also be sent to my mother, or to me?

A—I am interested in buying a farm with a G.I. loan. I am told I can do this even though the selling price is more than the VA appraisal.

A—Unfortunately, you have been informed incorrectly. Farm real estate (nonresidence) cannot exceed VA's appraised value. PL 90-301, enacted last May 7, permits veterans to pay more than the VA appraised price for homes—not farms. The maximum guarantee for the type of farm loan you mention is still 50 per cent of the loan amount or $4,000, whichever is less. Again, PL 90-301, which raised the VA maximum guaranty on homes from $7,500 to $12,500, did not change the farm loan guaranty.

CASH TIPS OF $20 OR MORE NOW COVERED BY S.S.

Cash tips amounting to $20.00 or more in a month with one employer are now covered by social security according to Charles H. Myers, Acting Social Security District Manager in Greensboro. Anyone who receives tips of $20.00 or more in any month while working for one employer must report this to his employer. He will then receive social security credit for his tips as well as for his regular wages each month.

Mr. Myers pointed out that the reporting of tips is a requirement of the law and is not voluntary. This provision has been in effect since January, 1966. He also stated that counting of tips along with regular wages means better protection and higher benefits for workers involved.

If tips are a part of your earnings, you should keep a daily record and each month report the amount received if it is $20.00 or more. If you have any questions on the reporting of tips or any other social security matter, call or write your local Social Security Office. The office for this area is located at 324 West Market Street, Room B-32, Greensboro. The telephone number is 275-9111 Ext. 384.
